TEMPORARY AQUATIC SET UP

City workers carefully place foot-pads for three large trailers, moved in this week next to the Ogoogo Pool. The trailers are to be used as portable washrooms and an administration centre for the Regatta. The three trailers stand on the location of the old Aquatic, destroyed by fire June 14 and are part of the temporary facilities brought in. Some portable bleachers are already in place at the pool to seat Regatta visitors for waterfront activities and the night shows. Total seating capacity will be 2,900. (Courier photos)

Socreds 'Achilles Heel' Target For Opposition

VANCOUVER (CP)—Perhaps sensing what some political observers have described as Social Credit's "Achilles' Heel," the leaders of British Columbia's two opposition parties travelled to interior Kamloops Friday to open their campaigns for the Aug. 27 provincial election.

The Kamloops riding is held by former highways minister P. A. Gagliardi, who resigned the portfolio last year after being involved in a series of controversies over land deals and use of a provincial government aircraft.

Liberal and New Democratic Party spokesmen have admitted privately they have little hope of toppling Mr. Gagliardi personally in Kamloops.

But both parties feel the Gagliardi affair has disillusioned enough voters in other ridings to sweep Social Credit incumbents out of office.

First out of the starting blocks was Liberal Leader Pat McGee, who led an evening parade through downtown Kamloops in an open convertible accompanied by Grit candidate Mac Bryson.

BERGER ALSO THERE

NDP Leader Tom Berger also arrived Friday night, but was not scheduled to take part in any campaign functions until today, when his party names a candidate to oppose Mr. Gagliardi.

In a speech that followed the parade, Dr. McGee made a plea for "30 seats" for the Grits on election day, which he said would give the province a "moderate, but moderate government."

Addressing 300 persons from the back of a flatbed truck, Dr. McGee said both the NDP and Social Credit realize that "middle-of-the-road Liberal popularity is soaring."

"We are not campaigning under the guise of socialism, nor are we under the protective umbrella of big business," said the Liberal leader. "A Liberal government will be sane and sensible and in step with the times."

However, prior to leaving for the interior, Dr. McGee told a news conference the best the Liberals can hope for would be to form a minority government and the worst would be holding the balance of power in a minority situation.

"Social Credit is on the way out," he said. "The election issue is new politics versus old politics."

Dr. McGee's next stop on a five-week "Move With McGee" tour is Williams Lake today and 100 Mile House on Sunday.

B.C. POLLUTION CONTROL BOARD OUTLINES REQUIRED STANDARDS

VICTORIA (CP)—The British Columbia Pollution Control Board has set January, 1971 as the target date for requiring anti-pollution devices on all new cars sold in the province.

The board Friday released a five-page report on pollution control target dates and recommended that intensive research be undertaken immediately to establish air pollution standards.

The board calls for funds, staff and office space in order to carry out the research required to establish standards.

If the government goes along with the request, the board said, a complete report outlining pollution standards could be ready by October 1970.

It recommends that as soon as the standards are set they be applied to automobiles.

Listing three main areas of study in the setting of standards, the board said an early start should be made on "close surveillance and regulations of emissions from industrial operations, motor vehicle emissions and space heating and domestic waste burning."

Special attention should also be paid to slash burning operations.

The report cited pollution in metropolitan areas where many factors produce serious conditions and pollution by specific companies or specific industries as the main areas of concern in the province.

Among industries, the report singles out pulp mills, saw mills and refineries.

Democrats Presidential Hope Remains Somewhat Clouded

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Edward M. Kennedy's bid for a vote of confidence in Massachusetts is bound to succeed—but it will take far more to rebuild his standing as a potential candidate for the United States presidency.

The statement with which Kennedy sought to preserve his position as a senator and his influence as a leader of Senate Democrats will make the political task more difficult should he one day seek the greater prize.

Some politicians said it now is beyond his reach.

Democrats closed ranks around Kennedy in the hours after his extraordinary public explanation of the automobile accident which took the life of a young secretary.

Kennedy's televised account did not explain away all the mystery surrounding the accident and the hours which elapsed before he reported it to police.

But a vast tide of telephone calls and telegrams swelled in Massachusetts, and the plurality was with the 37-year-old senator.

'If I was Teddy Kennedy...'

That would leave the early field for the 1972 presidential nomination to other Democrats—former vice-president Hubert H. Humphrey, who may be returning to the Senate next year; Senator Edmund S. Muskie of Maine; Senator George S. McGovern of South Dakota.

SPOKE FAVORABLY

Kennedy's Senate colleagues spoke favorably of his explanation or were, for the moment, silent.

Senator Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, the Democratic national chairman, said Kennedy has his support—and expressed confidence he would get overwhelming support in Massachusetts.

"He has my full confidence and support," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who Kennedy serves as deputy floor leader. Kennedy's Senate term expires next year.

The Democratic presidential future remains clouded.

Kennedy's role in it for the immediate future may be signalled by national reaction to his televised speech. For while he addressed the people of Massachusetts, his statement was broadcast across the U.S.

It seems likely that Kennedy will return to the Senate and remain politically silent for the foreseeable future.

MAN ON MOON? IT'S ALL LIES

WEST HELENA, Ark. (AP) — Frank Harris listened to the radio and heard the Apollo 11 and the walk on the moon—but he still doesn't believe it.

Told that television carried live pictures of the moon walk, he said: "That's just a story they showed on television to sell the picture shows."

Harris was born Christmas Day, 1866, near Baton Rouge, La., and it's a little difficult for someone 102 to grasp the age of space exploration.

The reason he gives for not believing the exploit: "The moon would have to leave the sky before anyone could walk around on it. They would freeze to death."

NEWS-SCOPE LSD Cache Uncovered

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP) — The largest cache of LSD ever found in California was confiscated by police in a raid on a rural home near here Friday.

Narcotics officials said, thirty-five gallons of the hallucinogenic drug and a sophisticated LSD manufacturing plant were discovered, said Jerry Van Ramm, field supervisor for the California Narcotic Bureau. Van Ramm, who led the raid, said the LSD might be worth more than $1,000,000 on the illicit drug market. Arrested in the raid were Cyril Hsu Sin, 24, and Bruce G. Worman, 24, both of San Francisco.

20 DIE IN FLOODS

TRIVANDRUM, India (Reuters) — At least 20 persons died in torrential rains and fierce winds that lashed Kerala state this week, officials said Friday.

WATCHES APOLLO

HAVANA (AP) — Premier Fidel Castro was one of Cuba's avid television followers of the flight of Apollo 11. Informers sources said Friday. They said Castro went to Havana University to watch color programs from the United States when the astronauts walked on the moon Sunday night. He returned Thursday to watch the splash-down in the Pacific.

SNAKES ESCAPE

NEW YORK (AP) — A package marked "live frogs and lizards" accidentally ripped open in the central post office Friday and 50 snakes wriggled onto the floor. Several postmen gathered up the snakes, measuring from six inches to four feet, and stuffed them in a postal bag. The shipment, from an unidentified dealer in Pompano Beach, Fla., was meant for Alfred Oyeda of the Bronx who sells the reptiles to retail dealers.

MP 'Hot Line' Now Hung Up

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament, withered by July humidity and heavy debate, adjourned Friday until Oct. 22 after an explosive speech by Prime Minister Trudeau.

The speech marked the end of a session so productive that one parliamentary official said the only problem is whether to use one volume or two to print legislation.

"I think we should encourage members of the opposition to leave early," Mr. Trudeau said at one point Friday. "Every time they do, the IQ of this House rises considerably."

At another point, a Conservative back-bencher accused Mr. Trudeau of kicking children.

Friday's debate, the most acrid since the Pearson-Diefenbaker pier sixers, was the product of fatigue and the exhausting battle over a new time-allocation rule.

The rule came into effect at 1:59 a.m. Friday after the government imposed closure for the eighth time since 1917 Thursday to bring the rule debate to an end.

The rule gives the government unilateral power to set debating time limits if all-party or three-party agreement can't be reached.

The opposition arrived in the Commons Friday ill-prepared to accept anything and promptly rejected a Government House Leader Donald S. Macdonald's motion for recess to Oct. 22.

Opposition Leader Robert L. Stanfield said the House should come back Sept. 22 so Parliament could deal with serious national programs.

NDP Leader T. C. Douglas and Creditiste Leader René Caouette agreed, listing wheat, pollution and inflation as being among the prime problems.

Mr. Trudeau, temper worn thin by a week of "slog heils," responded with a general attack on opposition "hypocrisy" and a particular attack on various members of the opposition.

He said that Mr. Stanfield, as former premier of Nova Scotia, and Mr. Douglas, former premier of Saskatchewan, should realize a government needs the summer recess to plan and draft its next legislative program.

HONG KONG (Reuters)—An earthquake centred in southern China's Kwangtung province ripped through the nearby colonies of Hong Kong and Macao for 10 seconds early today, tumbling people out of bed, breaking pots and pans but causing no casualties or severe damage.

Moon Dust Hits Six By Accident In Houston Lab

ABOARD HORNET (AP) — Apollo 11's isolated astronauts cruised toward landfill in Hawaii today as six earthmen at a laboratory in Houston were accidentally exposed to dust the spacemen brought back from the moon.

The dust was on a film pack accidentally dropped by one of the astronauts on the moon.

Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins remained in the silver quarantine van on the hangar deck of the Hornet as the carrier churned toward a 2:35 p.m. EDT arrival in Hawaii.

Gov. John Burns and thousands of Hawaiians were to greet the first men who flew a moon landing mission. Still in the van, the astronauts were to be transferred to a C-141 transport plane for a flight to Houston, where they will be quarantined in the same building where the moon dust accident happened.

In the same lab, scientists prepared today to open two boxes of previous rocks Armstrong and Aldrin gathered on the moon.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced the accidental exposure occurred about midnight Friday night when a photographic technician, Terry Slezak, "was removing film magazines from the first of two containers."

"As he removed the plastic seal from one of the 70-millimetre magazines taken during extra-vehicular activity (on the moon), it was apparent that the exterior of the cassette displayed traces of a black powdery substance," NASA said.

The statement said that inside the plastic covering was a note from Aldrin describing the magazine as important and that Armstrong had reported dropping a cassette while walking on the moon.

NASA said five others were in the film reception room at the time, including Dr. Craig Fischer, chief of the clinical laboratory.

Exposure Brings No Change

NASA said the five stripped themselves of their clothing and proceeded to the shower room.

"Slezak, implementing documentation procedures, remained behind briefly, sealing the personal belongings of the others in plastic bags."

The statement said "the exposure brings no change in plans since all of the men involved already are in quarantine" in the lunar receiving lab where the astronauts are to be quarantined for 16 days after arrival early Sunday.

The elaborate quarantine precautions are being taken on the remote chance the astronauts or the rocks contain lunar bacteria which might harm life on earth.

Two boxes of rocks were flown from the Pacific on Friday night and scientists eagerly looked forward to analysing the first material ever brought back from another celestial body.

The families of the astronauts and thousands of others were expected to greet the astronauts, still in their isolation van, when they arrive at Ellington Air Force Base near Houston about 2:30 a.m. Sunday. The van will be transported by truck to the laboratory.

FORT DAVIS, Tex. (AP) — Scientists sharpshooting with blinks of intense laser light today whether they had hit the reflecting mirror left on the moon by the Apollo 11 astronauts.

"There has been a suggestion of possible returns but the confidence level was pretty low," said Dr. C. O. Alley of the University of Maryland.

Alley, working at McDonald Observatory here, is principal investigator for the moon experiment, called Laser Ranging Retro Reflector.

Thus far, said Alley, the moon's Sea of Tranquility remains in sunlight—and there is so much light there it creates a distortion problem.

Rescuers Seek 82 In Mine

WARSA W(Reuters) — Wary rescue teams plowed through mud and water today attempting to force open a path for 82 miners trapped since Thursday by a flood in a coal mine near Katowice in southern Poland.

Warsaw radio said rescue efforts continued around the clock but gave no fresh information about the incident. The official news agency PAP also gave no details.

A total of 119 miners were caught by a sudden surge of water, mud and sand from sediment ponds on the surface into underground shafts at the Gen. Alexander Zawadzki mine at Dabrowa Gornicza.

Miners from another section freed 37 men shortly after the accident. A PAP report said some of these men were injured but did not give details.

After burrowing for hours through a muddy quagmire and pumping out water, mine rescue teams—aided by troops and medical units—made contact with 70 of the marooned men.

Asians Should Take Lead Nixon Says In Philippines

MANILA (AP) — President Nixon arrived today in the troubled Philippines, where anti-American nationalism has been building, for a 23-hour visit featuring talks with President Ferdinand Marcos and his political opponents.

The president and Mrs. Nixon flew to Manila from Guam. They were greeted by Marcos with full military honors and drove in a motorcade to Malacanang Palace.

Nixon was to confer there for 2½ hours with Marcos and other Philippine leaders, followed by a state dinner. He is to confer again with Marcos Sunday.

Upon arriving at his first stop on an Asian tour, Nixon said Asian themselves should take the lead in promoting their defence and economic progress and in achieving peace in the Far East.

Thousands lined the five-mile route from the airport to the presidential palace.

A total of 16,000 security troops were reported deployed along the route from the airport and in the capital to ensure that no possible demonstrations got out of hand.

Before leaving Guam, Nixon told reporters he recognizes the validity of "Asia-for-the-Asians" sentiment and is determined to assist, but not dictate to, the non-Communist nations on the subcontinent.

HAS SOME QUESTIONS

But Marcos indicated that he has some questions to ask Nixon about U.S. policy in Asia, particularly the rate of U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam. In comments to reporters before Nixon's arrival, Marcos also said he believes that some kind of American military umbrella will be needed in Southeast Asia for the next "10 to 20 years."

Loch Ness Blip A 'Monster'

INVERNESS, Scotland (Reuters) — Two submarine men working for a movie company said today they picked up monster-like sightings 500 feet below Loch Ness.

"It showed up on our screen as about a quarter inch long which would have made it about 40 feet in length," the submarine Terry Storey told reporters.

He said the object appeared to be animate and moved away too fast for the two-man underwater craft to chase.

The submarine, named Pises, was shooting material for a movie called The Private Life of Sherlock Holmes, which contains scenes involving the legendary Loch Ness monster.

When it made the sighting, the Pises was actually looking for a fake film-prop monster made of plastic which sank in the loch Monday.

Thirty-Five Die In Crash

ALGIERS (AP) — An Air Algerie Caravelle jetliner, carrying 30 European oilmen and a crew of seven, crashed today near southern Algeria's rich oil fields. Thirty-five persons were reported killed.

The official government news agency, Algerie Presse Service, said there were two survivors.

The Caravelle was reported to have gone down about 25 miles from Biskra, near its destination of Hassi Messaoud, Chartered by the French charter service Comasret, the aircraft picked up 16 passengers at Paris's Orly Airport and 14 more at Marseille. Most of the passengers were French.

The pilot of the plane was the Algerian national line's chief pilot instructor.

Education Placed First On List Of B.C. Indians

British Columbia Indian leaders put education ahead of culture and community development, provincial secretary Wesley Black said Friday in reference to appropriation of the provincial Indian fund. Chairman of the First Citizens Fund committee, he said at a Victoria press conference the chiefs put education first when asked how money should be spent. The fund was set up at the last legislative session with $25,000,000 of surplus revenue. This has been invested and up to $1,500,000 interest will be spent on programs to assist native Indians.

Gerald Brooke, the British teacher swapped for convicted Soviet spies Morris and Lola Cohen after spending four years in Soviet prisons, admitted Friday night he had smuggled coding instructions and information on receiving radio signals into the Soviet Union. This secret information was concealed in a postcard album and a dressing case. Brooke said in a television interview. He said he followed the instructions of an anti-Soviet organization and passed the material on to a Russian doctor.

Prince Souvanna Phouma, the premier of Laos, denied Friday in Paris North Vietnamese charges that 12,000 United States troops have invaded Laos. The prince told a news conference that in reality the North Vietnamese are the invaders, with more than 60,000 regular combat troops supporting the Communist-backed Pathet Lao forces in Laos' civil war.

The fall-through of the Christian Democrat premier ruled out the only feasible combination of parties which could command a working majority in the present National Assembly.

Dave Brousson, Lib-North Vancouver-Capilano Thursday called on the provincial government to release the report of the Perry Commission on higher education which has been ready since February. Mr. Brousson said deputy education minister G. Neil Perry, chairman of the commission, told him it is "a comprehensive report with definite recommendations."

Indian Affairs Minister Jean Chretien offered a defence of the federal government's new Indian policy Friday while he praised a group of 200 Ojibway at the opening of a $150,000 marine 30 miles south of Parry Sound on Georgian Bay, Ont.

F. S. McKinnon, British Columbia Pollution Control Board chairman, said Thursday Campbell River alderman Wallace Balkie is "jumping the gun" in his demand for results on Butte Lake pollution tests. Mr. McKinnon said in Victoria the board got the 1968 information about two days ago and had absolutely no 1969 information at all. "I understood we'd send results to Campbell River every six months or so," he said. Balkie said Wednesday he had waited over a month for new information. He said a June 16 letter from Mr. McKinnon contained nothing new since Dec. 31, 1968 except a table on lead content, despite recent requests.

Vancouver lawyer financier A. C. Duncan Crux took over his own defence at an extradition hearing in Nassau, telling Magistrate John Bailey: "I don't have the means to have counsel." Canada is seeking to have Crux extradited from the Bahamas for trial on 21 theft and fraud charges in British Columbia. At the 11th appearance of Crux on the extradition application since his arrest here June 3, Paul Adderley and Noel Roberts, Nassau lawyers who have been representing him, announced their withdrawal from the case.

A federal-provincial conference may be held in Victoria in 1971 during celebration of the centennial of British Columbia's entry into Confederation. A spokesman in Prime Minister Trudeau's office, Ottawa, said Friday night there has been correspondence on the subject. He added however before time and place could be set all provincial premiers would have to be consulted. This confirmation was some time away.

The Canadian forces today released the name of a pilot killed in a collision Friday between two CF-104 Starfighters over the West German city of Vaihingen, near Stuttgart. Killed was Capt. Wallace E. Brason, 25, of Winnipeg. In good condition after parachuting from his Starfighter shortly before the collision is Lieut. Gordon P. Ferris, 25, of Barrie, Ont.

The Toronto Star says Leslie Rowntree, Ontario minister of financial and commercial affairs, is expected to quit the cabinet soon. The paper reports sources at Queen's Park said Friday that Mr. Rowntree, 55, will likely resign his portfolio before the legislature returns Sept. 30 from a summer recess.

DANGEROUS MACHINE
TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Safety League estimates Canadians could lose 5,000 toes and 1,800 fingers in power mower injuries this year. The Safety League says that companies, nowadays, are making mowers so tough you could drive a steel stake one inch in diameter into the ground, drop a power mower onto it so the blade hits the stake—and nothing would break. The League recommends wearing shoes with "safety toes" and turning off the machines before clearing matted grass.

HOME BOMBED?

KEEPS CHAIRS WARM
Souvanna Phouma, now in Paris for medical treatment, says the Communists are welcome back into his coalition government at any time and points to the four chairs he is keeping warm.
But the Pathet Lao will have nothing to do with Souvanna Phouma and is plugging the line that he has joined the rightmost camp.
In effect, the Pathet Lao is trying to scoop all the neutralist seats of an eventual settlement into its own corner.
But looking further ahead, observers say the settlement itself will be affected by the peace arrangements worked out for neighboring Vietnam.
The fates of Laos, Cambodia and Vietnam are inextricably linked.

COULD OVERTURN LAOS
Informed sources say that the 40,000 North Vietnamese troops here—the Pathet Lao guerrillas play a background role in the fighting—could overrun all of Laos with no difficulty.
"But this is not the name of the game," said one source. "Everything is political. Nothing is military."
Hanoi's intention, as seen by Western sources, is to undermine the shaky foundation on which the tattered 1962 Geneva accords rest and thus squeeze out the neutralist rule of Premier Souvanna Phouma.

The Geneva agreement was intended to halt fighting between Communist guerrillas and royalist troops and unite three factions—left wing, right wing and middle-of-the-road—into a neutralist coalition to govern Laos, which became a sovereign state in 1949 when independence was granted by France.
Besides calling for the withdrawal of all foreign troops, the 1962 agreement gave the rightists, neutralists and Communists seats in the government under Prince Souvanna Phouma.

GIVEN FOUR SEATS
Along with the rightists, the Communists were given four of 19 cabinet seats and, until six months ago, the Communist ministers continued to use their official titles as they flitted about Laos.
This delicate balancing act—purporting to reflect each faction's territorial control—soon toppled with the Communist walkout a year later.
Diplomatic sources say the Communist propaganda machine now is calling for a return to the 1962 position with the key provision that such a move take account of "new realities."

FALL OF STRONGHOLD IN LAOS
The fall of the former government stronghold just west of the Plain of Jars was as one diplomat put it, "a nasty shock" to Vientiane and the political ripples it stirred could turn into a storm here.
Yet it is accepted even among Western diplomats that poor leadership, antiquated equipment and bad discipline hang like millstones around the necks of the 100,000 government soldiers.
Informed sources say U.S. fighter-bombers and Thai artillerymen present at the Muong Suoi battle could not make the so-called neutralist army a match for the well-trained Pathet Lao guerrillas and their North Vietnamese allies.
Just as the U.S. embassy here does not admit it lends air support to the Laotian forces, the North Vietnamese deny the presence of their troops here.

Any Viet Cong Candidates Given Guarantee By Saigon

PARIS (AP) — The South Vietnamese government pledged today that Viet Cong candidates in free elections proposed by President Nguyen Van Thieu would be guaranteed equal opportunities and would be immune from discrimination or reprisals.

But North Vietnam and Viet Cong ignored pleas from the United States and the South Vietnamese government to reconsider their earlier rejection of the Thieu plan.

South Vietnamese government delegate Pham Dang Lam told the 27th weekly meeting of the Vietnam peace talks his government "has no intention whatsoever of giving itself some advantageous position in the proposal it has put forth."

All the candidates would enjoy equal opportunities in the electoral campaign. This would be guaranteed by an electoral commission composed of all candidates' representatives. There would be no discrimination or reprisals. Voting and the ballot counting would take place "on the spot" under the control of representatives of all the candidates.

An international body would provide an additional guarantee for the fairness of the elections. Lam gave no indication of when elections could be held. Thieu said this week that it might take two years to organize them.

Lam repeated that the Saigon government is prepared to consider any election suggestions from the other side.

He said the Northern allies' "obstinate attitude" in refusing to discuss this election plan "can only prompt people to think that you are merely waiting for a military victory, for a collapse of the political regime of the Republic of Vietnam, or for the discouragement of the South Vietnamese people in their fight against Communist aggression."

"Should that be true, there is no error more tragic. The consequence of such speculation unfortunately will be the prolongation of the war."

Hanoi's Xuan Thuy and Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh of the Provisional Revolutionary Government (Viet Cong) brushed aside appeals from U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge to take another look at Thieu's proposal. They said that the only basis for negotiation is the Viet Cong's 10-point plan for unconditional American withdrawal and creation of a coalition cabinet to organize free elections.

Their speeches were unusually short, as though the two delegates wanted to convey to Lodge that any long, detailed discussion of the Thieu plan would be a waste of time.

B.C. ELECTION TRAIL
Prior to leaving on his interior swing, Mr. Berger nailed a number of plants into his election platform at a news conference in Victoria.

He said the B.C. Telephone company would be the only target for a government takeover if the NDP is elected, and described Social Credit's approach to pollution problems as "a deathbed repentance."

The 36-year-old NDP leader promised elections would be at least four years apart if his party forms a majority government and he called for changes in legislative rules to permit radio and television coverage of sessions.

Mr. Berger chuckled at the "Marxist" tag hung on him by Premier Bennett and told reporters neither big labor nor big business would be allowed to stand in the way of good government.

The opposition leader planned to spend today in Kamloops and Friday night there has been correspondence on the subject. He added however before time and place could be set all provincial premiers would have to be consulted. This confirmation was some time away.

There was little activity Friday in Premier W. A. C. Bennett's Social Credit camp, with campaign plans yet to be announced. The premier is due here early next week for strategy sessions and an announcement is expected Tuesday.

Meanwhile, in Dawson Creek, Don Phillips (SC—South Peace River) announced Friday he is withdrawing from politics and will not contest the election.

First elected in 1966, Mr. Phillips, 39, gave business and personal reasons for his decision not to seek the nomination. He operates an automobile dealership.

Mr. Phillips said he plans to nominate Don Marshall, a 38-year-old farmer, at a Social Credit constituency association meeting in Dawson Creek Tuesday night.

George Driedger, president of the B.C. Social Credit League, said in Vancouver Mr. Phillips is the only Social Credit MLA in the last House who will not be seeking re-election next month.

The Board of Directors of Northwood Mills announce the appointment of Mr. K. K. Nielsen as General Manager effective July 1. Mr. Nielsen will live in Penticton, B.C. and succeeds O. A. Perrault, who requested less onerous responsibilities. Mr. Perrault continues as an active Director of the Company in a specialist role. Mr. Nielsen was previously Vice-President, Woodlands of Anglo-Canadian Pulp & Paper Co., of Quebec City and serves as 1969 Chairman of the Woodlands Section of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association. In his new appointment Mr. Nielsen will also be a member of the Operating Committee of Northwood Pulp Limited, of Prince George, B.C.

Outboard Race New At Regatta

Top prize money of $500 and the William Treadgold and Son Trophy will be up for grabs at this year's Regatta.

A new event this year, the Le Mans start race for stock outboard engines and family pleasure boats will set out from Hot Sands Beach on a 50-mile course north and south of Kelowna.

Starting at 2 p.m. Aug. 9 (a Saturday) the race is expected to draw entries from around the Pacific Northwest and should be a crowd-pleaser, Regatta officials promise.

Full details and entry forms are available from the Regatta association, and deadline for entries is Aug. 6 at noon.

Safety is being given major emphasis in the race rules, with properly equipped boats a must.

Only single stock outboard engines are allowed and all boats must be of the family pleasure type. Regular gas and oil must be used.

A two-man crew is required, each equipped with helmets and government-approved life jackets to be worn throughout the race. Approved fire extinguishers, a bailer, two paddles and a length of rope are also required safety equipment.

Any driver of less than 21 years of age must have written consent from parents or guardians notarized.

Fair play is the name of the game and race officials, who will police the course, can question or disqualify any driver at any time before or during the race if the "driver," the boat and/or the motor is unsafe or the outfit is detrimental or does not conform to the spirit of the rules.

All protests from the Ogoogo Outboard Open are to be made in writing by the boat driver within 30 minutes of the finish; protest fee is $30.

REGATTA FEVER, that pleasant malady that strikes this time every year, is on the increase again. Tom Treadgold and Frank White, head, top, roar around the Kelowna waterfront in practice runs for the Ogoogo Outboard Open. This 50-mile race, with a Le Mans start, is a new Regatta feature this year. Beginning at 2 p.m. Aug. 9, the race is expected to draw good crowds. Only family pleasure boats, with outboard engines are eligible. Right, Lady of the Lake Marina Maundrell and Val Paul, her lady in waiting, survey the expanse of their royal domain as their reign nears its end. Marina and Val stopped this week at the focal point of Regatta activities to inspect the grandstand seating being installed to accommodate 2,900 people at the Ogoogo Pool.

Quick Blitz For Leaders

The hierarchy of opposition parties will touch only briefly on Kelowna during blitz five-week tour, stumping for support throughout the province.

NDP opposition leader Tom Berger is scheduled to sweep the South and North Okanagan ridings and Salmon Arm in a single day and Liberal leader Dr. Pat McGee will appear in Vernon and Kelowna before 7 p.m. Aug. 7.

Mr. Berger, who will be in the Social Credit stronghold July 30, will have "first crack" at local voters.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett is scheduled to appear at the So-called nominating meeting at the Elk's hall, Aug. 1.

Dr. McGee is scheduled to lunch in Vernon, July 29, and have dinner in Penikese the same night, before coming back to the Valley for a Kelowna stop Aug. 7.

A NEW APPROACH
HALIFAX (CP) — The old, gruff truancy officers of former years have been done away with here, but the city has a department to deal with absenteeism. Marjorie Cook, head of the department, said only 10 of the 18,000 school children in Halifax were charged with truancy in juvenile court last year. She said the department held about 1,000 interviews with parents and teachers in an effort to prevent serious truancy. The major cause, she said, was trouble in the home.

Court Hears Two Cases Bail Set For Two Accused

Pleas were reserved and bail set for two prisoners who appeared in Kelowna court today. A recognizance bail of $200 was set for Norman Hilborn, Kelowna, who was charged Friday with loitering and obstructing people in front of a local drug store.

Hilborn, who said he had "a long story to tell," at one point asked that the matter be handled within a week or immediately.

Advised by counsel that he would not be represented if he demanded immediate action on the charge, Hilborn agreed to a remand until July 31 when he will appear for trial.

In the only other case today

Robert Arthur Smith, of Kinross, was denied an application for a waiver of prosecution to Castlegar.

Magistrate R. J. S. Moir, who was presiding for magistrate D. M. White, said he would not grant the waiver, but set bail at $250 cash and remanded Smith until Monday.

"You can appear before the regular magistrate and make this application again," magistrate Moir said.

Hospital Keeps Busy
There were more patients in Kelowna General Hospital in June 1969 than in June 1968, but they didn't stay as long.

The statistical report for June, submitted by administrator C. P. Lavory, showed 471 in-patients in hospital in June, which brought the total to date to 2,794 patients, compared with 454 in the same month last year and a total of 2,625.

June patients stayed an average of 9.4 days, compared with 10.1 last year.

The total average was 9.7 days compared with 10.2.

Patient days for adults and children in June were 4,315 bringing the total to date to 20,740 days, compared with 4,335 and 26,338 last year.

There were fewer new babies with 51 for June compared with 53 in the same month in 1968. The comparative totals are 350 for 1969 and 275 for 1968.

Out patients treated last month totalled 1,445, bringing the total to date to 8,104, compared with 1,131 and a total of 5,708 last year.

Well Known Rutlander Recovers From Mishap
RUTLAND (Special) — Friends and neighbors are happy to see Dick Wigglesworth home and able to get around on his crutches. Mr. Wigglesworth suffered a broken back in a logging accident last December.

Mrs. Marion Gelowitz and her family have enjoyed many visitors this summer, among them were her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Hagel from Allan, Sask., Mr. and Mrs. Gus Gelowitz and family from La Plac, Man., Mr. and Mrs. Sam Strifed and family from Melville, Sask. From Kilmory, Sask. were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Fliegel. Also, her late husband's former employer, Mr. Sid Wood, worth from Codette, Sask., dropped in. Also in for a short visit while holidaying in the area, were Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Gelowitz of Grayson, Sask.

Fruit Markets Set To Expand

New markets for Okanagan fruit were the targets of a B.C. Tree Fruits officials' recent tour of the Pacific Rim.

General manager Eric Moore visited present and potential markets in Hong Kong, the People's Republic of China, Australia, New Zealand and Fiji.

The agriculture expert visited various officials—trade commissioners, government personnel, marketers—to establish liaisons in the area of expansion.

B.C. Tree Fruits is stretching its marketing fingers into the Far East as markets in Europe fail.

The general manager reported "first hand direct contacts with individuals and organizations who might render us service."

In Hong Kong, where a sizeable sales volume of B.C. fruit already exists, Mr. Moore discovered "good prospects for the future." He established sales targets for B.C. Tree Fruit representatives and planned a small promotional campaign there.

The Canadian was not so lucky in Red China where he hard-bargaining attitude on the ran into "a relatively tough, part of the Chinese representatives."

The communist country, he later recalled, is in an "inward-looking" year and emphasizing its exports rather than imports.

In spite of the cool reception there—the weather was bad as well, Mr. Moore said—the fruit marketers plan to keep "a toe-in-the-door for future opportunities."

Also a difficult market is Australia due to strict government controls there on imports of Canadian fruit. Mr. Moore said his meetings with Australian government and marketing officials will be followed with further information and negotiations; the board hopes to see the Australian quarantine regulations changed.

The picture is even more gloomy there in the processed fruit field. Angered by Australian "dumping" of processed fruit in Canada at low prices, the B.C. Tree Fruits team now discovers evidence of a further increase in volume of both orchard areas and plant facilities.

TAKE OVER
"Australia is determined to take over a major share of the Canadian market," Mr. Moore predicted. He added the only changes Australia made in its export rules were due to agreements with the United States and South Africa, and not to Canada's complaints about the "dumping."

New Zealand was "particularly co-operative and helpful" to the B.C. Tree Fruit tour. Mr. Moore feels Canada is on the verge of breaking through apple import restrictions there and that an import licence for B.C. fruit is "a near certainty" this year.

Although Fiji is not a large market, B.C. ships a "worthwhile volume" there each year, and Mr. Moore felt his visit to the island was worthwhile.

Meanwhile, Okanagan orchardists are being warned to get their apple picking recruiting program going early this year. A decrease in the agriculture labor force required (due to poor crops in early fruits) is expected to create a "very serious shortage" of apple pickers this fall. There is no build-up of a transient labor force in the Valley as usual.

All apple growers who have orchard accommodation are asked to notify their farm labor office immediately to make known their requirements of apple pickers. B.C. Tree Fruits hopes to begin its recruitment program in other areas by early August.

In other industry news the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association has asked orchardists to ignore rumors that planned integration of the B.C. Tree Fruit industry will be detrimental to growers.

"The executive of the BCFGA pledges that in any proposed plan the welfare of the growers and the betterment of their positions will be its only consideration."

The committee studying integration of the industry plans to report to the growers in advance of the BCFGA annual convention to give the members a chance to study the plan.

The rumors, the committee claims, are suggesting integration will rob growers of equity in prices, of their freedom; "some are even more vague."

The Kelowna adult education department, which holds classes in a number of agriculture topics, is looking for ideas for more new courses. Anyone with an idea of a new course useful for the fall and winter lectures is asked to contact the department.

Apple shipments to the fresh market continue to lag behind other years' levels. As of July 1, a total of 4,348,068 boxes of apples had been sold in Canada, the United States, Britain and other overseas markets. The same figure for the previous year's sales was 5,103,454 boxes, with 5,365,500 boxes sold by July in 1967.

About 60,437 boxes of Wine-saps were in storage in the Valley at July 1, all but 26,000 of these have been sold.

Regional Crop Prospects Reported Good By Growers

Farmers are reporting good crops in the Okanagan-Similkameen, with moderately warm weather and light showers given the credit for the healthy agriculture progress.

The latest department of agriculture news letter reports all vegetables growing well, and most pests and diseases "under reasonable control."

Production of cucumbers is past the peak in the South Okanagan but in full harvest in the north. A good crop is reported moving well and fetching a good price.

Tomatoes are "growing well with a good set," the news letter reports, with harvesting for local sales begun in the south. Shipments are expected to begin next week.

Early cabbages are harvested and growers expect to begin picking mid-season cabbages in early August. Harvesting is under way and shipping is reaching its peak volume in peppers.

The Grand Forks area is harvesting Norlands potatoes; Red La Seda potatoes are being ing harvested in the South Okanagan, and Warbas are in the bins in the North Okanagan-Armstrong areas. Prices, however, are low.

Earliest onions are now cleaned up, with fall-planted onions soon to be harvested. The asparagus yield is up, due to the high soil moisture conditions and the fresh market for this crop is listed as "good."

Peas are growing well due to good weather since the June hot spell. Beans are expected to be "average to low" due to the hot weather. Early carrots for local use are being harvested.

Shipments of corn to the early fresh market are being made with an "excellent" crop reported. The harvesting period is expected to be longer due to new corn fields in the North Okanagan.

The newsletter says "many problems" with pests turned up early in the year due to weather but pests and diseases are now under reasonable control. The asparagus beetle is hardly seen at all anywhere these days.

Three Funerals Planned For Former City Residents

GORDON EDWARD JOHNSON

Funeral services will be held at Vancouver for Gordon Edward Johnson, 55, a former resident of Kelowna, who died Thursday.

Mr. Johnson is survived by his wife, Johanne, one son, Peter, of Vancouver, one daughter, Mrs. John (Susan Darrell) Darrow, of Vancouver, one brother, Peter, of Vancouver, one sister, Mrs. Frank (Doreen) Hillier, of Vancouver, and one grandchild. He is also survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Johnson, of Victoria.

The remains of Mr. Johnson are being forwarded to Vancouver for funeral services, followed by cremation. He was superintendent of schools at Powell River, and served in the same capacity with School District 23 (Kelowna) up until nine years ago.

Day's Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

ROBERTS
Funeral services will be held from The Garden Chapel Monday at 10 a.m., for George Robert Roberts, 84, who died Thursday.

Surviving Mrs. Roberts is one son, Jack, of Powell River, one daughter, Mrs. I. Kingsop, of Fort St. John, and nine grandchildren.

Services will be conducted by Rev. Paul Robinson, with interment at Kelowna cemetery.

The Garden Chapel Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

MIGHTON
Funeral services will be held from the Church of Immaculate Conception Monday at 10:30 a.m., for Stanley McDonald Mighton, of Kelowna, who died at Kelowna General Hospital Friday.

Surviving Mr. Mighton is his wife, Marie, two sons, Jack and Donald, of Edmonton, two daughters, Miss Corinne Mighton, of Edmonton, Mrs. Donald (Jeannette) Kellerman, of Vancouver, one brother, Joseph, of Saskatoon, Sask., one sister, Mrs. B. (Bess) Jonsson, of Saskatoon, Sask., and eight grandchildren.

Services will be conducted by Rev. R. D. Anderson, with interment at Kelowna cemetery. Prayers and a rosary for Mr. Mighton will be recited at Day's Chapel of Remembrance Sunday at 8:30 p.m.

Busy 24 Hours For Policemen

A tree hater is loose in Kelowna.

Investigating a complaint of dead trees belonging to Jack Tait, 415 Rose Ave., police discovered the trees had been killed when an unknown person poured kerosene "or a like substance" on the roots.

Investigation is continuing.

In other police business Mrs. Gordon Thomas reported her son lost $45 on Ethel Street Friday.

Vandals damaged a drinking fountain in City Park about 11 a.m. Friday.

In motor vehicle accidents a six-year-old Kelowna boy was treated for a leg fracture when struck by a motor vehicle driven by Beatrice German, Kelowna, in the 800 block Morris about 3:30 p.m., Friday.

An estimated $175 damage was done when vehicles driven by Robert Henry, Kelowna, and Duke Forbes, of Kelowna, collided on Mountain Avenue about 3:10 a.m. Friday.

A hit-and-run on a car on Bernard Avenue about 8:20 a.m. today is under investigation by police.

NEWCOMERS WELCOME
OYAMA — Newcomers being welcomed into Oyama by the residents are Mr. and Mrs. H. Moulton, Mr. and Mrs. D. Cusson, Mr. and Mrs. H. Panckgrau, Mr. and Mrs. J. Price, Mr. and Mrs. C. Barber, Mr. and Mrs. K. Jung, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Smithson, Mr. and Mrs. G. Wiens, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hoover, and Mrs. and Doctor Mather.

REGATTA GUEST

Major-General Maurice Lipton has accepted an appointment of honorary vice-commander of the 63rd Kelowna International Regatta, Aug. 6 to 9. General Lipton joined the Royal Canadian Air Force in 1938 and served overseas and in Canada during the Second World War. His early air force career was centered mainly in the field of flying training, and he served at air force headquarters and as commanding officer of RCAF Stations in Winnipeg and Gimli. In 1963 he was appointed deputy vice-chief of the air staff at air force headquarters, and deputy chief of staff operations at North American Air Defence Command Headquarters in Colorado Springs in 1964. He was appointed commander of the Canadian Forces Air Defence Command and the Northern NORAD region this year. General Lipton was mentioned in dispatches in 1942 for his contribution to the British Commonwealth air training plan in Canada, and was awarded the air force cross in 1945.

Free Films At City Park

Three films produced by the National Film Board will be presented Sunday night at dusk in the City Park oval.

The films are: Steel Town, a story of the people of Hamilton, Ont., who turn out seven million tons of steel a year, making their city famous; In A Box, a film about all of us, including Marshall McLuhan; and Blades and Brans, filmed in the Montreal Forum during the 1966-67 national Hockey League season, in a background sound of exican brass.

Films presented every Sunday evening throughout July 1st August by the Kelowna Film Council are free of charge.

SEEN and HEARD

If you think parking is a problem in the downtown area, try the City Park any weekday morning. Perhaps the major tourist season has caused the move, but many local business types are no longer letting their cars "sleep" on downtown streets all day. Now they are parking in the park and walking to work—and avoiding the routine of moving their car every hour or two.

Visitors of the week, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Crothers, presented with a basket of fruit Friday by Ed Krahn, president of the Kelowna Retail Merchants Association, have been coming to the city the past eight years because they find it "relaxing." They also find our metropolis a "clean" and "roomy" place to move around in during their yearly jaunts. The Winnipeg, Man., couple also find Kelowna a "friendly" place to holiday.

The best way to advertise is to keep your product in front of the public, but the CN and CP railways really have a good thing going for them during the summer. The railway tug and barge operations are a big hit with tourists, particularly those who record their travels on film. Hundreds of heads turned and dozens of photos were snapped Friday afternoon, both from the City Park and the Okanagan

SUNNY with some cloudy periods is the weather prediction for today and Sunday. The forecast calls for light winds and a few showers Sunday near the mountains. High and low Friday was 71 and 48, with no precipitation. Canada's high Friday was registered at Medicine Hat where the mercury rose to 90, and plummeted to 41 at Whitehorse, Kimberley and Edmonton for the country's low. High and low tonight and Sunday should be 85 and 48.

Lake bridge, as the span lifted to let a lake service vessel through.

It's interesting to watch almost all the populus of downtown Kelowna give one good leap every time the ear-splitting and more than a little surprising blast emits from the bridge opening siren. When it went off late Friday everyone queuing at the liquor store rose one inch off the floor in unison.

An accident was narrowly avoided at a downtown intersection, Friday, when a quick thinking individual used his head and the flat of his hand to stop an automobile from running down a pedestrian. A man waiting to cross the street observed a woman driving a small station wagon making a turn in front of him. The woman was more engrossed in the child on the seat beside her than her driving and obviously had not noticed another woman striding from the curb. The man brought his hand down flat and hard on the car roof causing a loud noise which in turn caused the startled woman to slam on her brakes.

With the proliferation of travelling tourist trailers and campers on the road, a new variety of mobile accommodations can be seen in Kelowna almost daily. More trailers with more self-contained facilities are on the highway and become more modern-looking each season. One streamlined, gadget-covered trailer, with built-in driving facilities was seen in the city today. It looked more like a space capsule than a trailer.

Rumor has it man cannot live on bread alone, but a girl in a local supermarket Friday seemed intent on trying. The pre-teen miss drew wondering stares from other patrons as she struggled her way to a check-out with a cart full of nothing but bread. The unsliced loaves were stacked higher than the sides of the bulging cart, which at a quick estimate would probably hold about 30 loaves.

Sighted sub, blub, blub! A Kelowna bathtubber will take to the waves this weekend in Merritt, the latest city to start an annual battle of bathtubs. Gerry Shelley, piloting a bathtub owned by a little old lady who used it only on Saturday nights, will enter the Merritt race Sunday. Kelowna's own bathtub race will be held Aug. 8 as part of Regatta.

HE'LL HOPEFULLY HOVER HERE

This British-made air-cushioned vehicle will skim over the waves of Okanagan Lake Aug. 12 as local city and industry leaders are given a preview of a machine that may see service in Canada's north. The Cushioncraft CC-7, which seats eight to 10 passengers, is a small prototype of hovercraft soon to go into production in Britain. Sponsored by the British and Canadian governments, the craft is on a demonstration tour across Canada, where it is undergoing trials in a wide variety of rugged country. About 60 local dignitaries are expected to watch the vehicle in action Aug. 12 beginning at noon at the Enderdale Arms bench. The craft will cross the lake in front of the city and residents at Hot Sands beach may get a look at it.

Even As A Mustard Seed Shall Faith Blossom Forth

Daniel 6:23. "Because he believed in his God."

Oh, the conquests of real, vital faith in the living God. The Lord Jesus has told us that if we have faith, as a grain of mustard seed, we shall be able, in the power of the Spirit, to accomplish wonders for our God. Our faith, however, must be of the mustard-seed kind. That is to say, the proper kind. The importance is not in the size, but in the quality. A mustard seed has life, and though it is small and may be buried in the earth out of sight, give it time and something will happen.

So it is with real, living faith in the true and living God. Daniel is a beautiful illustration of this. For his faithfulness both to God and man he was thrown into a lions' den, but without doubt it was one of the best all-nights of prayer and praise he had ever experienced. And in the morning, when the king called upon him to say, "Is thy God, who thou servest continually, able to deliver thee from the lions?" he was able to reply: "My God has sent His angel, and hath shut the lions' mouths, that they have not hurt me."

Daniel was then "taken up out of the den, and no manner of hurt was found upon him." But why? The answer should be stamped upon our heart and memory of life: "Because he believed in his God." Well might our Master say, "All things are possible to him that believeth," because "all things are possible to God." O Lord, "Increase our faith," our faith in Thee in Thy love, Thy grace, and Thy providence.

Daniel who in his day and generation had witnessed so courageously to God, is told that there is a place reserved for him, shining as the brightest of the firmament, one of the brightest of those stars have turned many to righteousness and have pointed men to God and everlasting life. "Thou shalt stand at thy lot at the end of days." Daniel 2:28, "But there is a God in heaven."

—Rev. E. H. Nikkel.

Kennedy Vies With Moon

One of the many strange aspects of the Kennedy affair is the dearth of public comment in the generally glib city of Washington populated by "well-informed," "usually reliable" and "inside" sources.

Whether out of sympathy for Senator Edward Kennedy or a healthy self-protective regard for the laws of libel, public comment has been minimal while, of course, the case remains a prime topic of private conversation.

Since Saturday, when secretary Mary Jo Kopechne died after the senator's car rolled off a narrow bridge on Chappaquiddick Island, Mass., the story has vied with the moon landing for front-page space.

One of the few to venture a statement was Democratic Senator Mike Mansfield who said Kennedy continues "to have my full confidence" and that he did not think the incident would injure Kennedy's career. The accident, the Senate majority leader said, was something that could have happened to any man.

The Evening Star, the only Washington newspaper to offer an editorial opinion, was quick to compliment Mansfield for his compassion.

But the newspaper adds that while the accident could indeed have happened to any man "it would not be true to say that the half-hearted investigation of the case by the Massachusetts authorities is something that any man could expect."

Mansfield's kind words aside, there is no doubt here that Kennedy's apparently inexorable progress toward the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972 has been severely shaken.

In the view of veteran observers, it is not a question of whether or not his career has been damaged, but to what degree it has been damaged—perhaps even fatally so.

What has most upset law officers so far is that Kennedy did not report the accident until at least eight hours later, when he arrived with a lawyer to make a statement. He pleaded guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of an accident and the minimum sentence of two months was imposed and it was suspended.

What most upsets others, however, is that the statement leaves many questions unanswered and the longer Kennedy leaves them unanswered the less credible the answers would seem to be.

Court Acted Wisely

(Calgary Herald)

Society cannot afford to tolerate a contemptuous disregard for the law on the part of some of its less-than-responsible citizens.

The appellate division of the Supreme Court of Alberta therefore acted wisely in increasing a prison sentence imposed on a 19-year-old marijuana trafficker from three months to 18 months.

At a time when the use of marijuana by young people is developing into an alarming social problem, the courts have a right to exercise their responsibility to take stern action.

DDT Poses Growing Threat To Famed Maine Lobsters

BOOTHBAY HARBOR, Me. (AP) — Is the famed Maine lobster on a collision course with the killer pesticide DDT? Increasing amounts of DDT have been found in the tissue of lobsters analysed at the state research station here and in crustaceans sent to a federal station in Florida.

Delight of gourmet and tourist alike, lobsters from New England and Canada are shipped by air to all parts of the United States and several European countries. Scientists say they have no reason to doubt that all lobsters—Homarus Americanus—ranging from the Carolinas to Labrador probably contain traces of insecticide sprayed to battle pests on land.

"DDT is bad enough but some of the new substitutes are even worse," says Robert L. Dow, director of research for the Maine department of sea and shore fisheries.

"Some of the new chlorinated hydrocarbons are so poisonous we practically have to spell out their names in front of lobsters or they will roll over dead," said Dow grimly.

"A lindane dilution of one part in $5,000,000 will kill lobsters, and shrimp are even more vulnerable."

CATCH VALUABLE Maine's lobster catch of more than 21,000,000 pounds was worth approximately $16,000,000 to the rugged fishermen who set traps in the rockbound coastal waters last year.

Maine's battle with pesticides is part of a national problem. Arizona and Michigan have banned DDT outright. Sweden is the first country to ban the poison on a national scale. The two-year ban is essentially a holding action while scientists try to catch up with the scope of the threat.

Scientists have seen the toxic levels of DDT and other pesticides build up in sea food sharply in recent years. At the same time, other scientists are putting out new products to take the place of DDT that are even more lethal to marine and animal life. The public grabs the spray can with the new label but it contains the same old problem inside—the poison does not break down and accumulates over the years.

At the same time Dow and other researchers are finding a buildup of poison in lobsters, other state experts in the extension service at the University of Maine in Orono are recommending methoxychlor and malathion for mosquito control. Both are fatal to marine life if transported down streams to the coast in sufficient quantities.

BOARD POWERLESS Maine has a pesticide control board but it has no funds, no enforcement powers, not even a telephone listing. It is a loose aggregation of various department heads.

DDT has been found in fish taken from every major lake in Maine. In Sebago, the source of Portland's water supply, the DDT accumulation in salmon was the highest of all. Sebago, a popular resort lake, has the longest history of spraying to control mosquitoes around the numerous cottages and summer camps.

Maine has hundreds of miles of indented shoreline washed twice a day by the tides of the Atlantic Ocean or the DDT problem would probably have become acute years ago, say scientists.

Coho salmon planted in Lake Michigan three years ago were caught by commercial fishermen this April for the first time. The first shipment was seized by the Food and Drug Administration because the salmon contained 13 to 19 parts per million of DDT.

U.S. government tolerance levels for DDT in meat has been set at seven parts per million. Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, recently declared five parts per million as the maximum acceptable in fish.

ACCUMULATE DDT The coho salmon, like the Maine lobster, is at the end of a biological food chain. Big fish eat smaller fish and so on down the ladder. The 25- to 30-pound salmon took on all the DDT accumulated in every fish of the food chain.

Maine for years has sprayed DDT to control spruce budworm in her vast forests. Potato farmers sprayed to control pests.

Spraying in the forest lands came to a virtual halt in many sections when trout turned up dead in many streams and ponds.

Since the ocean is the ultimate drainage, poisons end up in the estuaries and saltwater marshlands that are the nurseries for the millions of marine creatures that start the oceanic food chain.

"It isn't surprising that lobsters and other crustaceans are particularly vulnerable to DDT," says Dow. "The pesticides were developed to kill insects and crustacea are related to insects."

In recent years food stores in many states have featured live lobsters held in tanks. It is almost routine now for marine biologists to hear of instances where a clerk spraying a cockroach at one end of the store killed a tankful of lobsters at the other end of the store.

Maine's problem with lobsters reflects a worldwide concern. Scientists point out that man at the top of the food chain is storing up DDT in increasing amounts every year.

Mother's milk has been found to contain more DDT than the acceptable level in cow's milk.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

ARE WE GRATEFUL?

Sir: I sincerely hope that we (the general public) are grateful that honest men like Fred Alcock and Dr. Clarke exist.

I also hope that we are prepared to take Mr. Alcock's factual and scientific information over the fraudulent and provincial politicians and provincial politicians who are willing to sacrifice their integrity for the tourist.

I do not know the answers to our pollution problems, but I feel confident that Mr. Alcock, Dr. Clarke and other scientists do have the answers. Let's listen to these people and support their proposals before we are all washed down the local "political sewer pipe!"

Yours sincerely,

"TRUTH-MINDED"

THANKS

Sir: The purpose of this letter is to express the thanks as a member of the group in the Red Cross Adult Swimming classes to the proprietor of a Glenora Street motel, for his kindness in donating the use of his heated pool for our instruction.

There were times when the windy weather and temperature of the lake made it impossible for some of us to stay in the water long enough to profit from our instructors' best efforts. Many of us found that we learned more, and in far less time, in the heated pool.

We are looking forward to the happy day when the city has a pool to make "learning to swim" easier for both adults and children.

I understand that the owner also made his pool available to Kelowna's competitive swim team during May and June, and this must have been a great help in preparing these young people for a successful summer.

So again, a sincere thanks to the proprietor of the motel for his public-spirited actions.

Yours truly,
MRS. A. J. NOBIS,
410, FRANK AVE., KELLOWNA.

LOOKING BACK WITH OLD STAGER

Ferry Travel Not Punctilious

By ART GRAY

Even back in the days before the white man came to the Okanagan, the stretch of water between what has been spanned by the Okanagan Lake bridge was a crossing place for the Indian residents of the Valley. The favorite mode was to paddle across on a log, and when the first fur traders passed through the Valley they travelled the west side all the way, the Indians from this area paddled over to trade with them near present day Westbank. When the priests established their mission on the east side, on what came to be called Mission Creek, there were more crossings of the lake here than ever. The first wagon train from Oregon, brought in by Joel Palmer and his partner Miller, was ferried over from Westbank on tree-felled rafts.

The first real ferry service came into operation in 1855, when two halfbreeds, Eneas and David McDougall, built a scow about 12 feet wide by 16 feet long, with three planks high, and with a rough deck on top.

There were posts and rails fixed along each side, and loose rails at each end for loading and unloading the horses and passengers. The motive power was provided by rowers, using long pine sweeps. Men, and sometimes women, provided the momentum, a plank being removed from the deck, and they sat with their feet dangling into the hold of the vessel, the oars being fixed between thole pins on the sides of the scow. The full load for a trip was three heavy horses or five pack ponies.

There was no such thing as a time table. There was first the problem of finding a McDougall or two to operate the scow. There were seven McDougall brothers, but only two had much to do with the ferry service. Eneas lived on the west side, about four miles from where the ferry would start. David McDougall lived on the east side, out near Duck Lake. Eneas got most of the business. On frequent occasions Eneas would be away hunting, or acting as a guide for hunters, and the would-be ferry user would have to resort to swimming his horses across the narrows, by use of a rowboat. This was a job requiring two men as a rule, one to row and one to hold the rope attached to the horses' heads.

Around 1886 Capt. T. D. Shorts started his first steamboat, the Mary Victoria Greenbow, (the name was almost bigger than the ship), making journeys up and down the lake, cutting into the McDougall monopoly to some extent, but his boats did not stick to a very reliable schedule, the Jubilee and Penitence (1887 and 1890) increased the competition, but lake travel, lengthwise or crosswise, was still erratic.

At the beginning of the new century, Leonard A. Hayman, probably the best known ferry captain of the early days, came on the scene. At first he used the old McDougall scow, from 1901 until 1906. As he told it in an article appearing in the 10th report of the OHS published in 1943, "Sometimes a wind would spring up and the scow began to fill up, in which case you had to slip the end rails and let the horses loose. The scow would begin to sink and the horses take to the water, and probably swim back to the place you started from, while I sat on the hand rails and let her drift until she fetched up somewhere. I would then have to bail her out and lighten up the caulking."

Capt. Hayman later used a steam launch belonging to Walter L. D'Aeth, a rancher on the west side (there is, or was not long ago, a spot on the V.L.A. development there named after him). This boat was the Wanderer, originally built by N. H. Caesar.

Amongst some of the early pioneer residents that he ferried across around that time (1901) were George N. Barkley, who owned a ranch where Summerland is now, and also Harry Mills, the prospector, who in addition to finding the odd gold nugget, is said to be the discoverer of blon bones in Mission Creek valley.

A government ferry was established in 1906, and Capt. Hay-man's account of how it came about is as follows: "In 1905 Westbank was becoming an important community.

An election was being held, and Price Ellison was a candidate. He held a meeting at Shannon Marshall's house, and at the meeting the people asked for a ferry, to be operated by the government, or government subsidized.

'FERRIED' VOTES

Hayman was leaving the west-side with Ellison, who stopped him to have a talk with Alex McLennan, a Socialist. "What about your vote?" asked Ellison. "Give us a ferry and put it in this bay and it's yours" was the reply. Price was elected and soon after tenders were called for a launch and scow. H. B. D. Lyons and Hayman tendered, but Lyons got the contract. He built a schooner called the Skookum (it was also known as the Tut Tut). It had a one cylinder engine, seven horsepower and the scow was 40 by 16 by four feet. The subsidy was $1,000 per annum, to make two round trips daily, except Sundays, commencing April 1, 1906. Fares were to be 25 cents for a passenger and $1 for a horse. Lyons hired H. C. Aviss to operate it, but the venture was not very successful, and Lyons sold out to Hayman on a cold day in February 1907, Hayman walking across the ice to see Lyons and close the deal, with some financial assistance from Jim Bowes, owner of the Lakeview Hotel. A fortnight later the ice began to move out of the bay, and the ferry was in business again.

That fall he had a steamboat built in Vancouver which he named the Cloverly, after a "small but very beautiful village on Bristol Channel."

The new vessel came up on a CPR flatcar, and Capt. J. B. Weeks of the CPR steamboat service, launched her. This boat not only ran as a ferry to Westbank, but also ran two trips a week to Bear Creek, and hauled lumber and feed to ranches up and down the lake, and fruit to Kelowna.

In 1911 Hayman went to England, and sold the ferry to E. Hankinson, but in 1912 J. Y. Campbell took over the charter, and built a new boat the Arica, a motor boat, 50 feet over all with a 10-foot beam, a passenger cabin, pilot house and carried a lifeboat.

Hayman bought this ship from Campbell in 1916, after his return to Canada. By 1921 cars were becoming so numerous and horses so scarce, he had a scow built to carry eight cars. This was towed alongside, except in rough weather, when it was towed behind.

On a dark night in the fall of 1924 they were shipwrecked. With six cars and 19 passengers they were hit by a strong north gale near Westbank Landing. The scow was cast off and struck the rocks got clear and was blown down the lake, but was later recovered.

The ferry went on the rocks and stuck there. A lifeboat was got over the stern and the passengers taken ashore. With the aid of Albert Raymer's gas boat the scow was brought back, and the cars eventually unloaded onto the wharf. They couldn't get off, however, for the trees that had been blown down across the roadway.

In 1927 the government went into the ferry business with the motor ship Kelowna-Westbank, and the day of the chartered ferry was over.

CANADA'S STORY

Leading Canadians Wanted To Join U.S.

By BOB ROWMAN

In 1840 there was a strong movement in Canada to join the U.S.A. Strangely enough most of its supporters were Tories and included J. J. Abbott who later became Prime Minister, and A. T. Galt, who became Minister of Finance, and helped to bring about Confederation.

The chief reason for the movement was free trade in British which eliminated preferential tariffs that had helped Canadian merchants sell lumber, flour and other products in the British market. Free trade in the British increased an economic depression in Canada.

What became known as the Annexation Manifesto was signed by 325 leading Canadians at a meeting at Kingston, Ont., on July 26, 1849. Yet the movement to join the U.S. had the opposite effect and led eventually to Confederation.

One of the young Tories at the Kingston meeting was John A. Macdonald. He refused to sign the manifesto and said later "Some of our fellows lost their heads". Instead, he urged the formation of the British America League which had three objectives: 1. To retain the connection with Britain. 2. Confederation of the British North American colonies. 3. Development of a national commercial policy.

The creation of the British America League proved to be a safety valve. It enabled the malcontents to let off steam, and gradually the desire to join the U.S. disappeared. Confederation was nearly 20 years away but the British America League was an important early step.

OTHER EVENTS ON JULY 26: 1757—Montcalm defeated British at Lake George. 1881—CPR entered Winnipeg. 1886—CPR trans-Pacific service began with arrival of sailing ship W. B. Hunt at Port Moody with 1,000,000 pounds of tea from the Orient.

BOBBY AND GUMP PICK UP SILVERWARE

Bobby Baun and Gump Worsley, winners of American Airlines golf tournament for NHL players, receive the silverware from Board of Trade Golf Club officials. Baun and Worsley were added starters because the airline wanted a balanced field, and the irony of it is that Worsley hates to fly. They finished the three rounds with net best ball of 182, 28 under par, and grabbed $5,000. They gave half their winnings to the Big Brothers of Metro Toronto.

Detroit's Denny McLain Is First 15-Game Winner

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With caps on his teeth, his plane in the hangar and reacquainted friend Mickey Lolich in the dugout, Denny McLain proved again he is as predictable on the field as he is unpredictable off it.

The Detroit right-hander, pitching like the 31-game winner he was last year, became the American League's first 15-game winner this season with another steady show Friday night as he hurled the Tigers by Kansas City Royals 3-0.

His six-hit shutout, matching his six shutouts of 1968, came after a typical off-the-field week for the controversial McLain.

It began when he missed the starting assignment in the all-star game Wednesday because his flight was late from Detroit, where he had some teeth capped.

Then came a feud with teammate Lolich over a plane ride home from the game that Lolich expected and never got, and finally McLain's grounding by the Tigers from flying his own plane. Dave McNally, Reggie Jackson and Andy Messersmith, who lead more subdued private lives, also continued their steady winning performances.

RUNS RECORD TO 14-0

McNally, with relief help, ran his record to 14-0 as Baltimore Orioles beat Chicago White Sox 4-2. Jackson rapped his 38th homer with a man on to give Oakland Athletics a 4-3 decision over Washington Senators and Messersmith pitched a two-hit shutout in California Angels' 6-0 triumph over New York Yankees.

In other games, Minnesota Twins went 16 innings for a 4-2 victory over Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox trimmed Seattle Pilots 7-6.

McLain, who settled his differences with Lolich Thursday before Lolich beat Kansas City Royals 3-1 for a 14-2 record, raised his record to 15-5 while taking the league lead in shutouts.

Beautiful Night For Hank But A Bleak One For Braves

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a beautiful night for Hank Aaron, but a bleak one for Atlanta Braves. Aaron reached two important career plateaus Friday, but couldn't prevent the Braves from bowing to Montreal Expos 8-7.

His first-inning double was the 2,000th hit of his career, leaving him 100 short of his goal of 3,000. Then Aaron tagged his 536th homer, tying Mickey Vernon for third place on the all-time list. Only Babe Ruth with 714 and Willie Mays with 596 have hit more than the Atlanta slugger.

Aaron, who started this season with 510 career homers, has moved past Mel Ott (511), Eddie Mathews (512), Ted Williams (521) and Tim Lincecum (534) this season, jumping from eighth place.

"Those homers are all behind me," he said. "I hope there's a lot more left."

Elsewhere in the National League, New York Mets trimmed Cincinnati Reds 4-3, Los Angeles Dodgers clipped Chicago Cubs 4-2, Philadelphia Phillies ripped Houston Astros 7-3, San Diego Padres edged Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 and St. Louis Cardinals squeezed past San Francisco Giants 2-1 in 13 innings.

All Aaron's hitting couldn't wipe out four-run lead which Expos built in the first inning against Atlanta ace Phil Niekro on consecutive homers by Bob Bailey and Coco Laboy.

Bailey connected after Adolfo Phillips and Mack Jones had singled and then Laboy tagged a solo shot. Later Rusty Staub added a two-run homer, giving Montreal an 8-2 edge.

J. C. Martin's two-out, two-run homer in the eighth inning clinched a New York rally that pushed the Mets past Cincinnati.

The Reds were leading 3-1 when reliever Clay Carroll hit Cleon Jones with a pitch opening the eighth. Art Shamsky followed with a double and after two infield outs had delivered one run, Martin's fourth homer of the season put the Mets on top. Tony Perez homered for the Reds.

Andy Kosco ripped a pinch two-run double that pulled the Dodgers past Chicago after Ferguson Jenkins was struck by a line drive and forced to leave the game.

McLain struck out eight and walked only one. Al Kaline's sacrifice fly in the fifth inning off Joser Roger Nelson was enough, but Mickey Stanley singled in another and scored on an error in the seventh as the Tigers won their seventh game in eight starts.

McLain Might Leave Baseball

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tiger pitcher Denny McLain says he will quit baseball if his wife loses the child she is expecting.

McLain, who upped his record to 15-5 with a six-hit, 3-0 shutout over Kansas City Friday night, said his wife lost two previous children in pregnancy because of the strain and tension of watching him play.

"She's lost two kids over baseball already," McLain said. "She's pregnant now and if she loses another one I'll quit."

McLain's wife is Sharyn Boudreau, daughter of Lou Boudreau, former shortstop and manager of the Cleveland Indians.

EXTRA INNINGS

PENICHTON, B.C. (CP) — A 15-inning marathon stand off highlighted Friday's round of the provincial finals of the B.C. Little League baseball championship here as Vancouver Southern Slugs defeated Prince Rupert All Stars 1-0 after nine overtime innings.

In other games, Renfrew Heights of Vancouver defeated Burnaby South 8-1, Penichton downed Castlegar 6-1 and Burnaby South blanked Prince Rupert 4-0.

Coquitlam And Saanich Battling To Meet Trail

By AL SIMPSON

Trail's Babe Ruth all-stars emerged from the fourth day of the B.C. Babe Ruth baseball championships, being played in Kelowna's Elk's Stadium, as the only undefeated team of the original seven entered in the double knockout event.

The Kootenay squad defeated Coquitlam 8-5 Friday in an error-plagued contest and advanced to the final today against either Coquitlam or Saanich, the only other teams still alive in the tourney.

Saanich, for the second time in the tournament, romped to an easy triumph over host Kelowna, this time by an 8-2 margin, in the only other game of the day.

GAME NINE
Saanich used a pair of high run scoring innings in registering its third win of the tournament, a game which eliminated Kelowna, as the host club earlier suffered an 8-0 whitewashing at the hands of this same Island crew.

Saanich, fighting its way back to the top through the loser's bracket after a narrow 2-1 loss to Trail Wednesday, overcame a 1-0 deficit with three runs in the second and four more in the fourth inning to shell Kelowna and starter Mark Lang.

Kelowna opened its short-lived 1-0 lead in the visitors half of the second frame. Brian Vetter walked to lead off, advanced to third on a pair of ground outs and scored on Ken Weninger's base hit.

Saanich almost immediately set its power packed offense into operation in its half of the inning, when Glen Campbell doubled and big first baseman Norm Baker slammed a home run. A walk, sacrifice and Mike Finlayson's single scored another.

In the fourth, base hits by Campbell, Baker, Laurie Garrett and a double by Nick Hoy, along with four stolen bases added four more to the total.

Vetter, Kelowna's best player in the tournament, scored the local's other run in the sixth inning, reaching base on a two-base error and scoring on a wild pitch.

Yet another Saanich pitcher, Ron Holmes, was credited with the victory.

Saanich faces Coquitlam today at 2 p.m. with the winner advancing against Trail at 8 p.m. Should the winner of the prior game also defeat Trail in the latter, an extra game would be required as both teams would have lost once to that point. The extra contest would be played Sunday at 1 p.m.

One of four quarterbacks at Winnipeg, Luther Selbo, was released by the Blue Bombers. Offensive halfback Rich Wozney, a Brandon, Man. native from the University of North Dakota, also failed with Winnipeg along with halfback Jim Johnson, tight end Nick Rogers and defensive end Jim Avery, all imports.

Following Coleman out of the Montreal camp Friday were Americans Jim Todd, Rocky Selanders and John Robinson and Canadian Pete Lamanita.

Head coach Joe Ristic of Hamilton cut three players and completed a trade with Montreal, Terry Ireland, a Canadian tackle, was sent to the Alouettes in exchange for import linebacker Henry Sorrell and a future college draft choice. Don Gilbert, a former defensive halfback with Ottawa and Winnipeg, was cut by the Tiger-Cats with two other imports, halfback John Boughton and end Neal Petties, who once was with Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

Others cut by Argos head coach Leo Cahill were Ken Corbin, linebacker for whom Argos had great hopes last season. Linebackers Ed Aru and Milt Balkum, defensive tackle Rudy Sims, offensive end Dafe Washington, defensive halfbacks Grant McKee and John McKillop were also released.

THREE AMERICANS CUT
Centre John Vilunas, once used by Toronto as a field goal kicker, was released by Saskatchewan Roughriders along with another Canadian, rookie end Rod Smith from the Regina junior Rams. The Western Conference team also cut three Americans, tackle Jack Rust, guards Alex Dess and Carl Hellman.

Green Hell Indians Wreak Revenge
BELEM, Brazil (Reuters) — Calapo Indians killed three white men Thursday and then disappeared into the "green hell" jungles of Amazonia leaving arrows along their trail as a warning against reprisals. The Calapos, who live near the upper Zingu River in remote Amazonia, staged their attack after their chief, Pombo, was beaten by illegal settlers.

GAME TEN
A game matching the two undefeated teams of the tournament all but showed why both teams hadn't lost to that point in the tournament.

Fifteen errors were committed in the lack lustre contest, eight by winning Trail. Only one of the 13 runs scored was earned. The seventh inning alone produced eight errors, four by each team.

Fourteen-year-old Rick Babcock pitched Trail into the finals, allowing just four hits, besting Coquitlam hurler Garth Hurdle who also went the distance.

Coquitlam held a 2-0 edge entering the fifth inning but two errors and doubles by Don Szilagyi and Len Ircandina produced three runs for Trail, boosting them into a lead they never relinquished.

Evo Marcon collected three hits for Trail, one single driving in a pair of runs in the seventh. Trail 00 032 3-8 7 8
Coquitlam 100 100 3-5 4 7
Rick Babcock and Gary Picone; Garth Hurdle and Jeff Benner. W-Babcock; L-Hurdle.

Age vs. Youth Struggle Seen For Canadian Open

MONTREAL (CP)—A $25,000 first prize that goes with straight age-versus-youth battle appears in the making for the open golf championship.

Entering today's third round, the field has been cut to 79 from the original 152 starters, with 17 Canadians among those who had two-round totals of 148 or less to survive Friday's cut.

A pair of seasoned veterans who between them have won some 270 tournaments are battling it out with two newcomers young enough to be their sons in the $125,000 annual.

Slammin' Sammy Snead, who admits to 57 years and 131 tournament wins, continues to lead the way after firing his second consecutive sub-par round. He slipped one stroke to a four-under-par 68 from his opening round, but still wound up on top Friday with a nine-under total of 135 for the two days.

That was one stroke better than Roberto de Vicenzo, the jocular Argentine, who at 46, claims he's lost count of his tournament wins, but contends a 140 figure wouldn't be far wrong.

However, the two elder statesmen found themselves challenged by a couple of relative unknowns, both seeking their first tournament win and the names had bypassed the Canadian in favor of the American Classic at Akron, Ohio, which is running concurrently with the Open.

No, I think most of the younger players just want to get out there and play well," Peterson said.

"I hope this type of thing will keep up and more satellite tournaments will start. It's pretty hard to keep up for every week-end if you don't make Monday's qualifying round."

THREE BUNCHED AT 140
Three assorted golfers were bunched at 140 behind Trapp.

Toronto's Al Bolding put together a pair of 70s for his total, while England's Tony Jacklin, this year's British Open champ, notched a one-under 71 to go with his opening round 69.

Vernon Two Up In Boxla Play

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—Former Coquitlam Adanac Marty Jordan led Vernon Labatts to their second overtime victory in the Interior Senior B lacrosse final Friday night, 15-12 over Armstrong Shamrocks.

Jordan scored four goals and helped on four others. Vernon trailed by two goals going into the last minute of regulation play but goals by Bruce Lafling and Jordan sent the match into overtime.

Vernon now holds a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven series.

Nicklaus Again Assumes Position As Golf Leader

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Jack Nicklaus had his game in gear and appeared ready to again assume his position as the dominant figure in golf today going into the third round of the American golf classic.

But, the 210-pound Ohio native was not pleased, even after a pair of 66s for a course record 132 on the 7,180-yard, par-70 Firestone Country Club.

"I could have played better," said Nicklaus, who is fighting his way out of a slump that has lasted almost six months.

Susie Berning Is Leading Betsy Rawls

KIAMESHA LAKE, N.Y. (AP)—Superstitious Susie Berning is looking for an omen for the final rounds of the $38,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association championship, but the way she's playing she doesn't need one.

"It was my husband's birthday Thursday and my brother came in from Buffalo to watch me yesterday, but I don't know what I'll have going for me today," said Mrs. Berning, who went into today's third round with a one-shot edge over Betsy Rawls.

Mrs. Berning scored 72 Friday for a 36-hole total of 142, four under par for the 6,306-yard, par-72 Concord Hotel golf course.

Miss Rawls, bothered until recently by poor putting, showed flashes of her old winning form with a 72 for 143. She holed two 10-foot birdie putts on the front nine and collected eight pars coming home.

Carol Mann, who shared the first-round lead with Mrs. Berning, went out in 35 but finished with a 74 for 144.

Tied at 146, even par, were Marlene Hagge, who shot a second-round 72, and leading money-winner Kathy Whitworth, who blamed her 74 on poor putting.

The record field of 63 was cut for the final two rounds to 41 players who scored 102 or better. Those making the cut included U.S. Open champion Donna Caponi at 151 and defending champion Sandra Post of Oakville, Ont. 152 after bouncing back with a 72.

Will McLaren's Cars Be Tested In Alberta?

EDMONTON (CP)—Friday was a day for sorting things out—people as well as cars—as Speedway Park prepared itself for Sunday's Klondike 200 Canadian-American Challenge Cup for Group 7 racing cars.

Heavy rain in the afternoon forced many drivers to abandon plans to practice for the 80-lap race around the 2.527-mile road course.

Only name drivers such as Bruce McLaren driving a car of his own design, Chris Amon, both of New Zealand, in a Ferrari, Briton John Surtees in a new Chaparral and a few lesser-known drivers ventured onto the slippery track.

The Klondike 200, with a $45,000 purse, is the third race of the 11-race Can-Am series to be run in Canada and is the fourth of the 1969 season. The first two were held in Canada and the third at Watkins Glen, N.Y. The next seven races will be at U.S. circuits.

McLaren and team-mate

Denis Hulme, also of New Zealand, placed first and second in the early races.

The McLarens could be challenged by the Ferrari and by the radical new Chaparral in Sunday's race.

HAS ADVANTAGE
Where the McLarens are running stock block Chevrolet engines, the Ferrari is powered by a V-12 engine that has an advantage of at least 30 horsepower.

In the race at Watkins Glen two weeks ago, the Italian machine placed third with Amon at the wheel—just 30 seconds behind the leaders.

The Chaparral is an unknown factor. Edmonton is the car's first appearance and it attracted considerable attention from the other competitors as well as onlookers.

Texan Jim Hall's newly-designed car has a 427-cubic-inch Chevrolet engine with an automatic transmission.

Hall, injured in a near-fatal crash at the Stardust Grand Prix at Las Vegas last year, still wears a brace on his left leg. He was at the track to watch Surtees baptize the new car Friday.

John Cannon, a Londoner who now lives in California, caused some mild excitement Friday when he spun at the beginning of the main straight and bounced off a guard-rail at 80 miles an hour. He was unhurt and the car was back on the track after some minor body work.

SEEMS SATISFIED
Hulme, took a few practice laps and seemed satisfied with his McLaren.

McLaren, however, was apparently having some engine difficulty and kept his mechanics hard at work for most of the day.

The Chaparral was experiencing some front tire wear where they rubbed against the insides of the fenders. Mechanics filed the fenders away to give the fat tires clearance.

Despite the rain, Amon pushed the Ferrari around the track for lap times in the neighborhood of 1:30—just a fraction of a second off the record of 1:29.2 set last year by Hulme on a dry track.

If the track is dry Sunday, drivers and mechanics said they expected a full six seconds to be chopped off the mark as the cars, with more than 600 horsepower, should hit about 195 miles an hour on the main straight for an average of about 112.

About 25 cars are expected to make the starting grid and at least 45,000 spectators are anticipated if the sun shines.

Nanaimo Youth Golf Leader

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mike Mousseu of Nanaimo fired a one-over-par 73 Friday for the best round in the Vancouver City Junior Golf Championship, but he wasn't eligible for anything but applause.

Only Vancouver golfers were eligible for the title, which went to Doug Roxburgh, who finished two strokes behind Mousseu at 75. Roxburgh has already won the B.C. Amateur and B.C. Junior titles this season.

Victoria golfer Carl Schwantje also had a 75, after coming home in a blistering 35 following a first-nine 40.

BIRLING ACTION

HAYWARD, Wis. (AP)—Phil Scott of Barrington, N.S., and Cindy Cook of Lewistown, Idaho, defending champions in men's and women's birling respectively, survived the first round Friday in the annual lumberjack world championships.

Scott, whose brother Fred also is to compete in today's semi-finals, will meet Mel Thake of Hayward. Fred Scott takes on Ray Heideman Sr., of Downey, Calif.

Marilyn Palmer B.C. Golf Champ

VANCOUVER (CP)—Marilyn Palmer of Vancouver Marine Drive packed an extra wallop into her afternoon round Friday to win the British Columbia women's closed golf championship four and three from Gail Harvey Moore of the Vancouver Golf Club.

Both competitors finished the 18-hole match play morning session tied with even-par 74s. Miss Palmer, who learned her golf on her father's course at Kamloops, shot a 38 on the front nine and a 36 coming home.

Mrs. Moore had a 36 on the first nine holes and appeared in command, but carded a 38 on the second nine to even up the match on holes as well as shots.

B.C. Lions Cut Two Players

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League Friday released import halfback Luther White, from Weaver State College in Utah, and linebacker John Lesky, who came to the Lions from Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

The cuts brought the B.C. roster to 41 players.

HARTMAN WINNER

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dennis Hartman of the University of Oregon was an easy winner Friday night in the men's one-metre springboard event of the Canadian National Diving Championships.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband has arthritis in his right hand. When he meets people they invariably grab his hand and pump away. I have seen him nearly faint from the pain.

How can he let them know he can't shake hands without seeming unfriendly or ungracious?—J's Wife.

Dear Wife: Your husband should quickly grab the other fellow's right hand with his left and say, "Sorry, I've got arthritis in the other one. . . . No one will be offended."

Dear Ann Landers: I am engaged to be married in the fall. My fiancée's aunt wants to give a huge kitchen and linen shower for me. Her plans are making me sick and I don't know what to do about it.

Yesterday Aunt V. handed me the guest list—about 70 women. At least half the names are of people I have never heard of. She asked if I'd like to add anyone. I told her no, but I'd like to take about 40 names off the list! She yelled, "Every woman on that list owes me something. I've been going to showers for 20 years and this is the only chance I will have to get even." When I tried to tell her gifts don't mean that much to me, she screamed, "Shut up and don't be a fool. This shower will save you at least $400."

My mother refuses to get involved. She says it's between me and Aunt V. Your advice would be appreciated.—Caught in the Switches.

Dear Caught: Ask your Aunt V to remove from the guest list the names of the women you don't know. She can "get even" some other way. If she refuses, insist that she cancel the shower. The whole thing smells like an uncleaned shipment of macaroni.

Dear Ann Landers: Settle an argument, please. My husband won't believe me, but if he sees it in your column it might make a difference.

I love plants and keep two beautiful ficus pandoras in our living room. My husband insists that plants absorb the oxygen and rob us of healthy air. He is forever nagging me to get rid of the plants for the sake of our health.

I say the reverse is true—that the plants absorb the carbon dioxide thereby contributing to our good health. Who is right? And while you're at it, please tell me if cut flowers do the same thing.—Green Thumb

Dear G.: My authorities on botany say you are closer to being right than your husband. Actually plants use up carbon dioxide, but the infinitesimal amounts of oxygen they give off wouldn't contribute much to anyone's good health.

Cut flowers do nothing, one way or the other.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Clarke of Kelowna are pleased to announce the engagement of their second daughter, Jennifer Trudy to Mr. Randolph Gregg Fortin, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Patrick Fortin of Kelowna. The wedding will take place Saturday, Sept. 13 at 2:00 p.m. in St. Michael and All Angel's Church.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Jeckel of Rutland are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter Eleanor to Mr. Michael John Wall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Wall of Prince George. The wedding date will be announced later.

Several Visitors Attend Weekly Bridge Meeting

Visitors welcomed to the Kelowna Duplicate Bridge Club by president, J. L. Reel, on Wednesday, July 23, were Mr. and Mrs. J. van Werkhoven of Port Couillard; Mr. and Mrs. M. van Der Pol of Robson; Joseph Lukas of Victoria; Mrs. W. F. Grierson of Edmonton; Mrs. John Granger and A. G. Ling both of Kelowna.

Winners of the summer series are as follows: 1. Mrs. H. E. Sullivan; 2. 3. tie Mrs. A. C. Lander and Mrs. W. J. MacKenzie.

Results of play for the Wednesday's 12-table Mitchell movement were as follows:

N/S—1. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Reel; 2. Mrs. John Granger and Maria Granger; 3. Mrs. W. F. Grierson and Joseph Lukas; 4. Mrs. A. Lidster and Mrs. Harold Lamoureux.

E/W—1. Andre Le Brun and L. O. Motley; 2. Mrs. J. MacKenzie and Mrs. W. J. MacKenzie; 3. Mrs. R. Jenson and Dr. O. Wahl; 4. Mrs. David Allen and Mrs. A. C. Lander.

Winners of the academy section were Mr. and Mrs. Milton Zacker.

AN EARLIER MARKET

CALGARY (CP) — Marketing cattle at an earlier age through use of a computer is the aim of two Calgary men. Dr. Ronald Lynch, a veterinarian, and Evan Bodrug, an oilman, rancher and engineer, will use a computer in their cattle plant so that optimum nutritional intake can be accomplished at all times. They hope to market cattle at one year of age instead of the 18 months to two years under the present methods of feeding.

HITHER and YON

Mr. and Mrs. John Harker, Abbott Street, are entertaining this evening at the cocktail hour in honor of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Harker, who until recently have been living in Ottawa. In a month's time the younger Harkers will be leaving for Iringa, Tanzania, Africa, where Mr. Harker has accepted a two-year teaching post from the Canadian International Development Agency.

The Golden Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Gellatly of Okanagan Centre, will be celebrated at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Allen of 1347 Orchard Drive, Sunday, Aug. 3 from 2 to 8 p.m. It is hoped that the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Gellatly will take part in the celebration.

Lady of the Lake, Marina Maundrell, is representing Kelowna this weekend at the Salmon Arm Summer Festival. Miss Maundrell is accompanied by her lady-in-waiting Val Paul and chaperone Mrs. Betty Collinson.

Home again after a week's holiday at Williams Lake are Mr. and Mrs. Eric Bateson, Lakeshore Road. As the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Armstrong, they viewed the countryside by horseback riding as much as 27 miles daily.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lawrence, Lambert Avenue, arrived home Wednesday from a short holiday on Vancouver Island. Travelling to Nanaimo, where Mr. Lawrence represented Kelowna in the annual Nanaimo bathtub race, they continued on to spend a few days in Seattle before returning home.

Noel White of Kelowna, is enjoying a reunion with his sister, Mrs. D. C. Unwin Simson, Sutherland Avenue, who returned home Thursday after having spent the past six months in Lausanne, Switzerland visiting her daughter Mrs. Barbara Forbes. During her vacation abroad Mrs. Simson accompanied her daughter on a cruise to South America.

HISTORIC SHOP

GRAND PRE, N.S. (CP) — A completely equipped blacksmith's shop has been moved from Wedgeport, N.S., to the national historic park in this Annapolis Valley community. Park Superintendent Gordon LeBlanc said the building, brought here in sections, will depict the task of the village blacksmith, which was much a part of the early life of the Acadians in the area. He said a yoke of oxen will be placed in a compound near the shop to complete the display.

Kennedy Lays It On Line But Still Leaves Queries

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) —
Senator Edward M. Kennedy has put his political future on the line before a divided public after a pretty secretary's death, left haunting questions still unanswered today.

Kennedy announced Friday night he may resign from the United States Senate if Massachusetts voters have lost confidence in him because of the car accident which killed his young blonde passenger on a lonely island road a week ago.

The first swelling tide of telegrams and telephone calls in his home state ran strongly in support of the senator. But across the U.S., the doubts lingered.

"I still trust him," said a college student in Pittsburgh. "But I don't think a lot of people do."
Kennedy, in an unprecedented national television appearance, said there is "no truth whatever" to ugly rumors of immoral conduct that shadow the accident. "Nor was I driving under the influence of liquor."

DIDN'T MENTION ROAD
But nowhere in his speech did he make any mention of why his car was on the deserted dirt road that led to the death of Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, on Chap-paquidick Island around midnight July 18.

Natural Gas Sales and Service

A young and growing Company, PACIFIC
NORTHERN GAS LTD., has available the following interesting and challenging opportunities in West Central British Columbia:

DISTRICT REPRESENTATIVE — Starting salary $750-$850 per month. Successful applicants will be responsible for all natural gas promotion, sales and service activities in their assigned community of Vanderhoof, Burns Lake or Terrace.

SALES REPRESENTATIVE — Starting salary $650-$750 per month. Reporting to a District Representative, the Sales Representative will assist in promotion, sales and service of natural gas to customers in Houston. Applicants should have a background in sales and maintenance of natural gas consuming equipment for commercial, industrial and residential markets. Gas fitters certificate would be an asset.

NATURAL GAS SERVICEMEN — Starting salary $600-$700 per month. Young men experienced in servicing gas burning appliances are required for Terrace and Fort St. James. Job requirements are for servicing customer gas appliances, operation of town regulator stations and sales work. A 1st class Gas Fitters Certificate is required.

Kennedy told a dramatic story of a night of tragedy and horror in which he twice brushed against the brink of death, of nearly becoming the third brother to die in sudden calamity while at a pinnacle of American political power.

And in those terrible moments, he said, he questioned
"whether some awful curse did actually hang over all the Ken-nedys."

The 37-year-old senator told of the water rushing into his lungs as he fought to escape his sunk car after it plunged off a bridge into an estuary. And he said he nearly drowned again as he swam across a channel from the island to the village where he had been staying.

This was the first explanation of how Kennedy got off the island in the nine hours between the accident and the time he walked into the police station in Edgartown to report the death.
And the swim seemed to raise more questions instead of quieting old ones.

Kennedy appeared on national television on the same day he pleaded guilty in court to leaving the scene of an accident. A two-month sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation for one year.

DOESN'T REMEMBER ALL
The senator said his failure to report the accident immediately was "indefensible." He said he was confused, tortured, tired.
He indicated he still did not remember all that happened in the nine-hour period.

In Berkeley Heights, N.J., the mother of the victim, Mrs. Joseph Kopechne, came out onto a neighbor's front porch after the broadcast to say in a halting voice: "I am satisfied with the senator's statement—and do hope he decides to stay in the Senate."

Kennedy's fellow Democrats hailed the speech. Republicans were generally silent.

Until the accident, Kennedy, the No. 2 Democrat in the Senate as assistant majority leader, had been regarded as a leader for the 1972 nomination for the presidency.

Kennedy's speech, his first explanation beyond a brief statement to police last Saturday, still left unanswered these key questions:

—Why Kennedy was on the dirt road leading to the narrow wooden bridge where his car plunged into a salt-water inlet?
The senator told police he made a wrong turn driving Miss Ko-pechne to the island ferry after a reunion party. At a T-intersection, the only paved road on the island turns left toward the ferry and is marked with an arrow; the dirt road goes right.

In the television speech, he made no mention at all of the turn.

—What happened when he plunged into the water to swim from the island to Edgartown?
Kennedy said two friends, Joseph Gargan and Paul Markham, had helped him dive for Miss Kopechne after the accident. He said he was confused and in shock. Kennedy said they took him to the ferry landing and he suddenly jumped into the water to begin swimming, almost drowning in the crossing.

OTHER QUESTIONS
Did Gargan and Markham
watch his struggle without telephoning authorities for help?
Or, if they had left and were unaware of the swim, weren't they concerned about where the troubled Kennedy had gone? Why did they take no apparent action that would have summoned officials?

Gargan, who is Kennedy's cousin, and Markham could not be reached for comment.

Kennedy was in seclusion at the family home here on Cape Cod, where one happy new fact emerged after the television speech—his wife, Joan, is four months pregnant, expecting the couple's fourth child.

The senator addressed his possibility of resignation to Massachusetts voters only, asking their advice on whether he should stay in office. But there was no doubt that he was being judged also by the people of the U.S.

Kennedy said the question of his resignation had been prompted by the whippers that surrounded the accident.

He said if the Massachusetts voters—with or without justification—had lost confidence in him, he should not continue in office.

MUST MAKE DECISION
He asked the advice and the prayers of the voters. But he said: "This is a decision that I will have finally to make on my own."

The night now etched forever in Kennedy's political life began with a reunion party for a few campaign workers for his late brother, Senator Robert F. Kennedy. Miss Kopechne was one of six girls at the cocktail at an island cottage.

Kennedy said:
"There is no truth, no truth whatever to the widely circulated suspicions of immoral conduct that have been levelled at my behavior and hers regarding that evening. There has never been a private relationship between us of any kind."
The senator told of a feeling of death when his car plunged off the narrow wooden bridge into the island inlet where his passenger died.

AROUND B.C. IN BRIEF

Penticton's Grads Of '69 Won't Face Court Actions

PENTICTON (CP) — Mayor Doug Stuart says the city will not press charges against young people involved in acts of vandalism during graduation week. The mayor said he would like to see the students make restitution for the "Grad 69" signs painted on public buildings, which cost the city $600 to repair.

POLLUTION RAPID

RICHMOND (CP) — The Richmond Anti-Pollution Association Friday urged the B.C. Research Council to make a comprehensive hydrographic survey of the Fraser River. The association said that to date, the Greater Vancouver Sewerage and Water District, Richmond municipal council and the provincial government have so far failed to come to grips with river pollution.

SALESMAN CHARGED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Harold Louis Cowan, 56, of West Vancouver and Walter Leslie Beeson of Vancouver were to appear in magistrate's court today charged with conspiracy, possession of stolen property and breaking and entering. They were arrested Friday in connection with the theft of $4,000 in

WITNESS RELEASED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ronald Stuart Clark, 19, material witness in the Kenneth Francis Black slaying, was released Friday after two weeks in custody, on $1,000 bond. It is alleged that Clark helped accused killer John Melvin Ritcey, 24, dispose of Black's body near Hope. Ritcey has been remanded to Aug. 27.

JOB BLITZ SET

VANCOUVER (CP) — Youth Employment Services said Friday it plans a blitz next week to find summer jobs for about 1,400 students for the remainder of the summer. The student-operated employment agency said it already has found 700 jobs for young people this summer.

CITY MAN KILLED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Frank P. Saunders, 47, of Vancouver, executive director of Big Brothers of B.C., was killed Thursday in a car accident in California, it was learned here Friday. His wife Joan and son Frank Jr. were injured.

Normal Diplomatic Activity Now Being Resumed By China

LONDON (AP) — China is resuming normal diplomatic activity around the world for the first time since it called home envoys for the cultural revolution two years ago, sources said today.

The informants said the Chinese are re-appointing ambassadors to a number of capitals and relaxing some restrictions on foreign diplomats in Peking.

One reason for the change, they said, was the relative success of Soviet diplomats in explaining their side of Russia's dispute with China in countries where China was virtually unrepresented. Strengthened Chinese missions abroad are expected to try to counter this.

A new charge d'affaires is expected in London later this year, the sources said. He would be the first senior ranking Chinese diplomat in London since February, 1967.

China's mission here in recent months has been headed by Ma Chia Chun, who holds the relatively low rank of counsellor.

A new Chinese commercial counsellor, Chang Chien Hue, arrived in London Thursday to re-open China's commercial office for the first time since 1967.

Chinese efforts to encourage more trade with Britain, as part of a modest improvement in relations between the two countries, are expected to follow.

At the same time, Western diplomats in Peking have reported better working conditions there and access to more senior officials in the Chinese foreign office.

John Denson, Britain's charge d'affaires in Peking, was allowed last month to visit Shanghai, Hankow and other Chinese cities. He was the first British chief of mission permitted to travel outside Peking in two years.

Scandinavian diplomats in Peking also have been allowed to travel to other Chinese cities, informants said.

But a number of problems continue to prevent more than modest improvement in relations between China and Britain. For example, Britain is FOUNDED BY KING Helsinki, Finland, was founded in the 1500s by Swedish King Gustav Vasa.

FBI On Door-to-Door Hunt For Clues In Kidnapping

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP) — FBI agents from New York state are making a door-to-door investigation into the kidnapping of a 23-month-old Buffalo, N.Y., girl found wandering on a local street during the day.

Patricia Ann Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Martin, was taken from her stroller Tuesday while she was with her eight-year-old sister Shellie, in Buffalo. The kidnapping was only a week before her second birthday.

When found Thursday, her long hair had been chopped off and she was dressed in boy's clothes.

Police Chief John Laurie notified the FBI and Neil J. Welch, special agent in charge of the Buffalo FBI office, sped agents and the child's mother, Mrs. Murray Martin, here. The mother was reunited with her child in the police station.

Patricia seemed in good physical condition and had not been harmed by her kidnapper, said to be a heavy-set blonde woman driving a yellow Volkswagen convertible with a black nylon top.

Provincial police at Niagara Falls said early today a similar car, with Ontario licence plates, was seen Wednesday at Dunnville, Ont., about 40 miles southwest of this community at the Lake Ontario mouth of the Niagara River.

"I remember thinking that as the cold water rushed in around my head that I was for certain drowning. Then water entered my lungs and I actually felt the sensation of drowning. But somehow I struggled to the surface alive."

He said he dove to try to rescue Miss Kopechne, then went back to the cottage and asked Gargan and Markham to help him try again to locate her underwater.

Exhausted and confused, he said: "I had them take me to the ferry crossing, the ferry having shut down for the night. I suddenly jumped into the water and impulsively swam across, nearly drowning once again in the effort."

The salt-water channel between Chappaquiddick and the village of Edgartown on the adjoining resort island of Martha's Vineyard off Cape Cod is about 250 yards wide.

Kennedy said he returned to his hotel in Edgartown about 2 a.m. and collapsed in his room. The next morning, he went back to Chappaquiddick Island and called a lawyer before returning to see the village police.

There was no explanation of what happened to Gargan and Markham after Kennedy plunged into the water. One secretary has said Gargan drove back toward the cottage around 9 or 9:30 a.m. to pick up the last of the girls and take them to the ferry. Shortly afterwards, Kennedy appeared at the police station.

Coast Investment House Opens Kelowna Office Soon

One of Vancouver's largest-volume investment houses will open a branch office in Kelowna next month.

Hemsworth, Turton and Co. Ltd., also plans another branch office to be opened sometime this summer, in the new Vancouver Board of Trade Tower.

Official opening of the new Kelowna office at 1593 Ellis Street is scheduled for Aug. 1. "We are handling an increasing amount of business from the Okanagan and this new office reflects our desire to serve our clients better with on-the-spot counselling services and up-to-the-minute quotations," said partner Murry Garrison, who will manage the Okanagan operation.

He said Hemsworth, Turton will install an illuminated quotation board similar to the service now existing in Vancouver boardrooms. This will finish Vancouver Stock Exchange transactions and share prices to Kelowna investors.

In the near future, when the VSE installs its new computer, Kelowna investors will be able to get instantaneous quotes on any stock as quickly as people in Vancouver.

Garrison said Hemsworth, Turton's move to Kelowna also reflects the company's tie-in with the Brenda group.

"We expect that the population between Vernon, Kelowna and Penticton will double in the next four years and we will service this area," he added.

Garrison will be resident director in charge of the entire area until a key man is qualified through the company's training program to take over the interior operation.

U.K. Fears A Mafia 'In'

LONDON (Reuters) — The government has struck a hard blow at Britain's booming gambling industry in an attempt to prevent Mafia-type gangsters taking control.

Under new regulations for casinos, all gaming except bingo, bridge or whist will be limited to 28 specified towns and cities in England and Wales and three in Scotland.

And gambling licences will be given to clubs only on condition they do not provide any form of live entertainment, Home Secretary James Callaghan told Parliament.

The regulations are likely to reduce drastically the number of high-stakes gambling clubs in Britain where such games as roulette and blackjack are played.

The centres on the home secretary's list include parts of London and Manchester, Birmingham, Brighton, Liverpool and Wolverhampton.

So far some 680 of Britain's 1,000 major gambling clubs have applied for certificates of consent from the gaming board by a time now have no chance of getting it.

Officials believe that the cutting will enable authorities to keep closer tabs on clubs that continue operations.

GOD DELIVERS HIS PEOPLE

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By ALFRED J. BUESCHER

Scripture—Exodus 2:23-32; 5:22-6:9; 12-15.

Enslaved and with their children's lives in danger, the Israelites prayed for relief. Through a burning bush God selected Moses to lead them.—Exodus 2:23-32.

Moses ordered lamb's blood applied to the people's homes so that when death visited Egypt in the night their first-born would be spared.—Exodus 12:1-28.

The plague of death (one in every unmarked home) caused Pharaoh to allow the Israelites to leave Egypt. Later, he changed his mind and pursued them.—Exodus 12:29-14:4.

God parted the Red Sea for the Israelites' crossing, then rolled it back, drowning the Egyptians.—Exodus 15:5-31.

Leading Laymen's Apathy Stalling Church Union

TORONTO (CP) — An official of the United Church of Canada says leading laymen of the United Church and the Anglican Church of Canada are indifferent towards proposed union.

Rev. R. B. Craig, the United Church's permanent secretary of the general commission on church union, said:

"Generally speaking, laymen are apathetic and their apathy is brought about by lack of information or lack of interest on the part of their clergymen."

"Most of the opposition is based on myth-information that they won't be able to worship as they have been or they won't have the minister they know."

The Globe and Mail, in one of a series of interviews with officials of both churches, also quotes Dr. Craig as saying:

"They (the laymen) always want to know if their worship service will change. If their church is small they express a great fear of being swallowed up. And then they want to know when union will happen."

NO FORCED WORSHIP

Dr. Craig says the plan containing the terms of union will not be ready until 1972 and that because each church will have to consider it, organic union is not possible before 1974 or 1975. He says no new form or worship will be forced upon anyone.

Dr. Craig and his Anglican counterpart, Canon Ralph R. Lattimer, have been touring Canada discussing the proposed union with laymen and clergy. Hugh McCullum, editor of the Canadian Churchman, the Anglican monthly newspaper, said laymen have few theological objections to union.

"It seems to me many laymen just don't see the point of union. Most of them don't have very sound theological objections to union. They're really afraid of what's going to happen to the little things—what's going to happen to Aunt Alice's memorial plaque."

OBJECTIONS BASELESS

Rev. John Webster Grant, a United Church member of the general commission, says many of the laymen's objections are based on little or no information.

"There are Anglicans who think the United Church people don't believe anything and United Church people who think that if the bishops give an order everyone in the Anglican Church automatically obeys it."

Biggest Witness Meeting

"Record Breaking" is the expression used by Central Okanagan delegates in describing the eight-day International "Peace on Earth" Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses from which they have just returned.

They were among the persons who shattered all attendance records by packing the Empire Stadium and overflowing to fill the Pacific Coliseum in Vancouver July 20.

F. W. Franz, vice-president of the Watchtower Society, said: "World peace today is a peace of terror. It is not necessary to take a rocket to the moon to find a peaceful planet, as mankind's oldest dream is about to be realized with a thousand years of uninterrupted peace."

The largest mass baptism in Canada's history saw newly dedicated Witness ministers immersed in water at a large Vancouver swimming pool. Saturday they applauded an important declaration by all Jehovah's witnesses world-wide to uphold peace with God and remain neutral regarding local, national and international issues.

Jehovah's witnesses in the central Okanagan area will resume their work and meetings this week.

CONSCIENCE AND COMMENT

Today's Impossible Possible Tomorrow

By REV. K. NEILL FOSTER

Mother Earth wrapped three of her sons in steel and fire and guided them toward the moon with welcoming arms of gravity. The moon reached out and eagerly pulled them to her bosom. Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin descended to the moon's surface, and moving like puffy puppets planted the Stars and Stripes in lunar soil.

History was made and America made it.

Though millions may not have realized it until now, there is a good America, a gracious America, an industrious and hardworking America, an America that clings to old virtues while stretching to new worlds. It is this America that has put man on the moon.

The rioting rabble who want to destroy America, who refuse honor and virtue are Americans too, sad to say, though hardly the heart of America and certainly not its strength. They have been seen and heard too much (this is not to say they should not be seen or heard at all) and the media have been prostituted to their propagandists too long. But the news coverage for Apollo 11 was refreshing and wholesome. The moon landing also demonstrated that impossible is no longer an absolute word. At the beginning of this century men could not fly; by 1975 it is expected that the moon will be colonized. What is impossible today may not be so tomorrow. Perhaps the doubters who have so long stumbled over the Saviour's virgin birth and His

The Down-And-Out In This Parish

TORONTO (CP) — Rev. John McGonagle's "parishioners" are the kind of people who are seldom found in church. They include drug addicts, sex offenders and the mentally ill.

Mr. McGonagle is the first chaplain at Toronto's Clarke Institute of Psychiatry. But the 51-year-old graduate of Trinity College in the University of Toronto has spent most of his Anglican ministry working with those generally considered outcasts from society.

He has served as chaplain with the Alcoholism and Drug Addiction Research Foundation of Ontario and with the Ontario department of reform institutions, and has also worked as a hospital chaplain.

"Many people, when they are forced to receive treatment for some type of mental illness, feel rejected by society and by the church, and adopt the attitude that 'God has given me up,'" Mr. McGonagle said.

GOSPEL SINGERS.

The Hundeby Brothers Quartet, gospel singers from Elbow, Sask., will present a program of music at Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church, Bernard Avenue, on July 30 starting at 7:30 p.m. These young men have drawn praise on their tours throughout Canada visiting congregations of Evangelical Churches.

WAYNE STUHMILLER
... Ordained Sunday

Ordained Here Sunday

To be ordained Sunday, a week before accepting a call, is Wayne Stuhmiller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stuhmiller, long-time Kelowna residents.

Raised in Kelowna, the seminarian will become pastor at St. Luke Evangelical Lutheran Church in North Surrey after his installation there Aug. 3. His ordination ceremonies will take place Sunday at Kelowna's First Lutheran Church.

A graduate of Concordia Senior College, Fort Wayne, Ind., Mr. Stuhmiller studied several years at Concordia Seminary in St. Louis, Miss. He received his Masters in Sacred Theology degree during post-graduate work in the past two years.

Church's Indian Relations Main Anglican Synod Topic

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — The attitude of the church towards Canadian Indians is one of the major topics expected to come before the 24th general synod of the Anglican Church of Canada.

Challenging reports and recommendations involving the church's responsibility in regard to national social issues, Christian unity and theological education are scheduled for discussion, making the synod one of the important in the church's history.

The biennial synod, the church's highest legislative body, will be held at Laurentian University here Aug. 18-26. More than 250 delegates, representing clergy and laity of 28 dioceses, will meet under the chairmanship of Most Rev. Howard H. Clark, Archbishop of Rupert's Land and Primate of Canada.

In the field of social action, the church has intensified research into its policy and attitudes toward Canada's native peoples and Indians in particular.

Based largely on a report by Prof. Charles E. Hendry, director of the school of social work at the University of Toronto, the general synod's program committee recommends the establishment, in consultation with the native peoples, of a program of development on the national level in line with their proposals for self-determination and recognition of their rights as Canadians.

SEEK MONEY BACKING
Dr. Hendry's report, embodied in his book, Beyond Trap Lines, which was commissioned by the Anglican Church, urges among other things a redefinition of the church's role among Indians and Eskimos, clarification of its intentions and redeployment of its resources. Synod will be asked to approve the creation of a national development fund calling for a financial commitment by all Anglicans in Canada.

The fund will also be used to implement proposals arising out of the Montreal Conference on Christian Con-

BIDDING QUIZ
You are South, neither side vulnerable. The bidding has been:

West North East South
1♥ 2♣ Pass ?
1. ♠A J 9 7 ♥8 5 ♦A J 7 4 ♣J 6 3
2. ♠K 7 ♥Q 3 2 ♦A Q J 8 3 ♣K 7 4
3. ♠K Q J 9 8 4 ♥7 ♦Q 8 5 ♣A 5 2
4. ♠K Q 9 8 3 ♥J 9 7 4 ♦J 5 2 ♣J
5. ♠A 5 ♥A 9 ♦A Q 7 6 ♣9 8 7 6 5 3

1. Three clubs. An overall in the two level designates a good trump suit and the values for an opening bid. It has an upper limit of strength, of course, since a double, a jump overall or a cuebid would all indicate greater values.

2. The most you can do here is raise North's clubs and hope he has the values to bid three no-trump. It would be wrong to bid two diamonds or spades, either of which would represent at least a five-card suit, and tend to deny club support.

3. Three no-trump. You must contract for game somewhere, and no-trump is the best bet. The hand is treated as though partner had opened with a club, in which case you would surely not settle for less than game even though an opponent intervened with a heart bid.

It is true that the heart stopper appears to be skimpy, but you should treat it as a full stopper nevertheless. East cannot possibly have an entry to threaten the queen, since there are only 40 points in the deck and they are sure to be lodged in the West, North and South hands.

4. Pass. The chance of making game is rather remote, since partner has merely overcalled, and the only problem is whether the better part score contract is likely to be in clubs or spades. The pass will work out best in the long run. There is too much danger—if you bid two spades now—club partner will go on to three-club, which will only make an already doubtful situation worse.

5. Five clubs. There is no way of ascertaining whether partner can make ten, eleven or even twelve tricks at clubs. The best thing to do in such cases—when there is no way of finding out—is to bid what you think you can make.

One possible effect of the leap to game is that the opponents, who are marked with great spade length, will find it impossible to locate a worthwhile leave in that suit.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

Sunday's horoscope promises a pleasant day. Especially favored are sports, outdoor interests, social gatherings and family matters. If possible, forget business and try to get some relaxation.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, you should find the year ahead marked by unusual progress. As of Oct. 1, you will enter an excellent 3-month cycle where financial interests are concerned and if you don't, in a spirit of optimism, splurge extravagantly on your accounts in a very healthy way. Mid-December will be an excellent time to make long-range monetary plans and, if thoughtfully and practically carried out, they should bring first returns by late March, with further gains star-promised in May, June and next July.

On the job front, stars say that, on Sept. 1, you will enter an excellent 3-month period for making advancement or, at least, finding opportunities for so doing. It will be up to you, of course, to take advantage of them. Some friendly assistance in October should give you the incentive to do this. Next good periods for upping your occupational status: January, March, June and next July.

Along personal lines: Look for interesting romantic developments in August, late November, December, February, May and June; toward opportunities for travel in August, October, January and mid-1970. A late-September business trip could be most profitable. A child born on this day will be endowed with a fine intellect and unusual creative ability; must, however, curb a tendency to try and dominate his fellow-men.

THE DAY AFTER TOMORROW

Important matters are destined to move at a high tempo on Monday, with promise of the attainment of cherished goals and unexpected fulfillment of personal desires. Your best on this generous day.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If Monday is your birthday, your horoscope promises a happy outlook for the year ahead. As of Sept. 1, you will enter an excellent period for advancing your occupational status, and the stellar influences governing this area of your life will grow progressively better throughout October and November. Do make the most of these fine years, since the progress you make by Dec. 1 will act as a springboard to further opportunities for advancement and increased prestige in 1970. Next good periods, career-wise: January, March, June and next July.

On Oct. 1 you will enter an extremely generous 3-month cycle for increasing your financial assets. It will be important, however, that you do not try to gain them through speculation. Gains will accrue through chances for increased earnings and sound investments only. It will be particularly important to remember this in mid-October and during the first week of November. Next good periods on the fiscal front: Late March, May and June.

Aspects governing your personal life will be generally very good during the next 12 months, with emphasis on romance in December, January, February, May and June; on travel in August, October, January and mid-1970. A child born on this day will be endowed with the talents required to succeed as an entertainer, artist, lecturer or financier, depending on his leanings.

QUEENLY CUDDLE FOR YOUTHFUL STAR

Marina Maundrell, who reigned over the 62nd Kelowna Regatta is still very much in the thick of things as her tenure draws to a close. Miss Maundrell, who will crown the new monarch, here holds court with a group of junior performers who will help make the Magic Mirror crowning ceremonies a success. Scheduled to be presented on the floating stage of Ogoogo Pool opening night, Aug. 6, the ceremonies are the result of tedious hours of hard work by a legion of volunteers and involve precision timing and style to add the proper pageantry to the event.

RUTLAND BRIEFS

We're After Blood Says Health Centre

RUTLAND (Special) — The Red Cross Blood Donor clinic will be held in the Rutland Health Centre on Wednesday, Aug. 6, from 2:00 to 5:30 and from 6:30 to 9:00 p.m. This is also the date of the Kelowna Regatta parade, so residents are reminded that the clinic is open in the afternoon, and also in the evening, so if they cannot make it for the early clinic, they can drop in after the parade.

Dr. J. J. Sturdy, chairman of the blood donor committee says: "Your healthy body contains about 12 pints of blood. When you donate a unit (about 2 1/2 of a pint) that wonderful body of yours goes right back to work and manufactures more to replace it."

In short order, you are right back where you began, with 12 pints in your veins. Everything is the same except there is now one extra unit of blood in existence. This extra unit is for someone who needs that little more to stay alive. You can save a life with blood you can spare."

The goal this time is for 175 pints. This should not be difficult. There is an award for the youngest donor. Seventeen-year-olds can donate blood with written consent from their parents. Cards for this are available at the Rutland Pharmacy. Robert Stearns was the March winner.

Also, there is a shield for the group with the highest percentage of members donating. The Pathfinders took it in March.

The lovely lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Whittaker, Belgo Road, was the setting for a miscellaneous bridal shower in honor of Miss June Chiba whose marriage to Andrew Roy Demcheson takes place Aug. 2 at the Rutland United Church.

About 34 ladies were present to shower June with many lovely and useful gifts. Assisting June with the gifts were her sisters, Kathy, Elaine and Geri-Mae.

Kathy fashioned a beautiful ribbon hat for the bride. Also present were the groom's mother, Mrs. Harry Perch and his sister Mrs. Gary Sherwin.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess Mrs. George Whittaker and her co-hostess, Mrs. Jack Johnson.

June will be teaching at Queen Elizabeth Senior Secondary School at Surrey. They will reside at Burnaby.

SOCIALS

Among the visitors recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Pierce were Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Cunningham from Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. Darryl Blum from Camrose; and from their old home town New Norway were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fredrickson, Mr. and Mrs. Al Saffron, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Doell now living in Penicton.

Mrs. Stewart Pierce, who supplied organ background music for many fund-raising and social functions at the Community Centre, will be the organist at the Rutland United Church, replacing Mrs. Bill Drinkwater, who, after many years of providing the music and directing the choir, seniors and juniors, asked to be excused. 50th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Bach were married July 22, 1919 at Friedenstal, Alberta. A party is being held in the St. Theresa Church hall this Saturday evening, in their honor.

GLACIER PARK HIKE

'Journey Into History' For Oyama Girl Guides

OYAMA (Special) — "Be Prepared" the Girl Guide motto is a challenge; it means that you be ready, prepared in knowledge and skills, for whatever may come.

The annual summer camp, which the 1st Oyama Guide Company chose, typifies the true guiding spirit that this small company is based on.

Colleen Sproule, Sharon Sproule, Candice Claridge, Rosemarie Pipke, Judy Joachim, Lori Wangler, Donna Dewar, Heather Straga, Gay Lee, Nadine MacColl, and Pauline Eyles were accompanied by their leaders Mrs. A. F. Trewitt and Mrs. M. F. Dewar and assisted by Mrs. P. Pipke, set off last week full of enthusiasm, for an exciting four days camping and exploring the trails in the Glacier Park area.

PARK CAMPSITE
The company which consisted of three patrols, set up camp in the beautiful Illecillewaet National Park campsite.

The girls, fascinated with beauty of their surroundings, hiked the switch-back trails to Abbott Ridge, and experienced the breathtaking view of the Illecillewaet Valley.

They ate lunch at Marion Lake, and continued their hike to the summit where they were intrigued by the green meadows, and Alpine flowers.

From the summit of Abbott Ridge they had an outstanding view of Rogers Pass, and a snowfield in July. Meals prepared over open fires, and the clean fresh mountain air, restored their vigor for a hike the following day up the Balu Pass trail.

The view from Balu Pass was "exceptional", with old wagon train roads, which were built by the CPR in the early 1900's and undeveloped game trails outstanding with flora.

Another highlight of the camping trip was the opportunity to explore the remains of Glacier House, which was used as an eating and stopping place at the base of Mount Abbott. The buildings were dismantled in 1929, but some reminders remain of the once famous tourist spot, and the guides spent an interesting afternoon foraging in the debris for souvenirs.

FREE RIDE
On the return trip the company stopped at Three Valley Gap, where the proprietor kindly treated them to a free train ride, and admission to the museum.

The group returned home, a little tired and dusty, but full of the wonders of the glorious sights they had seen, and enthralled with the chance to step back for four exciting days in the splendor of Canadian history.

Awards were presented to Cynthia Shumay and Colleen Sproule for completing the requirements for their Gold Cord.

Heather Straga was awarded for good grooming and good attendance.

Lori Wangler for obtaining the most badges, and Donna Dewar, Sharon Sproule and Pauline Eyles for achieving the highest number of points throughout the year.

Rutland League Eliminated In Salmon Arm Series Play

REVELSTOKE (Special) — The Rutland Little League All-Star team played a series of games here this past week. Monday's game, played at 2:00 p.m. saw Rutland trounce Salmon Arm 13 to 3. John Kitch was the pitcher. Tuesday's 6 o'clock game saw our boys beaten 5 to 1. This was a very close game up to the fourth inning, 1-0 for Rutland. Harry Grub pitched.

Wednesday's game, Rutland again took a beating, it was a very exciting game, and the boys had a late start. John Kitch pitched five innings and Pat Shannon the last. Reports were that the Rutland boys were a little weak on batting, and not able to hit the curve balls. Several of the parents were at the games to cheer the boys on. Manager J. E. C. Nelson and Coach Alton Shannon along with the boys: Stan Ishikawa, Terry Bauer, Darryl Hanet, Dale Gruber, John Kitch, Harry Grub, Tim Murphy, Pat Shannon, Larry Szaroz, Peter McClain, Chris Light, Gordon Zarr, Allen Yaciarski, and Siegfried Dreher made up the Rutland team.

When Rutland left for home, the teams from Trail, Beaver Valley, Revelstoke and Kelowna were still in the running. Next week in Revelstoke, these winners will be competing with the Northern Division.
